

All Powers Court Russia at Genoa On Eve of Parley

Question of Recognition of Soviet Russia Overshadows All Other Matters at Conference.

REDUCTION OF ARMIES
ALSO IN FOREFRONT

Staggering Burdens of Land Armament Are Expected to Force Move to Limit Size.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Genoa, April 9.—The preliminary moves on the European peace board to which the day before the opening of the economic conference was largely devoted, plainly showed all nations, great and small, courting Russia although they wished to appear not over-eager in the courtship.
Therefore, the Russians seemed to hold a position of distinct advantage, all depending on how they manipulated their pawns in their project to be admitted to the council of nations as the representatives of the Russian state.

The conditions of Russia's entry are the outstanding and dominating subject of the conference. In the meantime the allied chiefs have had two lengthy sessions, which were marked by some sharp exchanges between the British prime minister, Lloyd George and Louis Barthou, representing France, and settled on a definite program of technical work for the conference. The appointment of commissions as at the Washington conference was arranged for, composed of representatives of all the nations, with sub-commissions, the membership of which is restricted to the nations having particular interest in the particular economic topics to be taken up. The French delegates announced that complete accord existed between Great Britain and France in all matters.

Inaugural Session.
The inaugural session tomorrow will be devoted to formal addresses.
Twenty-four states and three continents will be represented. Turkey is the single European power not represented, the entente powers being unwilling to admit either the representatives of the sultan or of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, and on this question probably will occur one of the great fights which will make in the conference as it enters into many treaties with Kemal Pasha and insists that this government is the actual controller of the Turkish domain in Europe and Asia.

Soviet Russia and Japan speak for Asia in the conference; Canada represents North America, and the South African federation will speak for the great dark continent. South America is the single great land division of the world without a spokesman. The Italian premier, Signor Facta, will read a message from King Victor Emmanuel at the opening session, in which the king expresses the hope that the conference will meet with complete success in restoring normal conditions in Europe. It is not unlikely that the king will come to Genoa at an early date to extend personal greetings to the delegates.

Original Resolution.
The supreme council's Cannes resolution of January 6, from which the Genoa conference grew, announced that steps must be taken toward the economic reconstruction of central and "eastern" Europe in order to restore international commerce and develop the resources of "all" countries, which clearly includes Russia.

The agenda, which later developed from that resolution, while superficially dealing with financial and commercial questions, seems impossible of discussion without consideration of the basic political problems. Article 1 of the agenda makes reference to

Continued on Page 9, Column 6.

COAL PRODUCTION IS 3,500,000 TONS FOR STRIKE WEEK

"Lowest in Modern History," Says Review Issued by U. S. Geological Survey.

OPERATORS DECLARE DEMAND IS SLIGHT

Non-Union Fields Could Produce More, They Say, If There Was Good Market.

Washington, April 9.—Production of bituminous coal in the United States dropped to 3,500,000 tons, the "lowest in modern history," while work in the anthracite fields "ceased entirely," during the first week of the coal strike, according to a review of the industry issued today by the United States geological survey.

Reports received by the survey indicated that from 60 to 64 per cent of the bituminous tonnage of the country has been closed down by the strike, while the remainder "a significant portion, has not been operating recently for lack of demand." In the first week of the 1919 strike, the survey said, 71 per cent of the bituminous fields were closed but "the anthracite mines operated at capacity."

Taking April 3, as the first real test of the effect of the strike, the survey noted that coal loadings aggregated 11,445 cars against 38,056 cars on the same day of the preceding week.
This total was continued without substantial change through the next five days, fixing an estimated production for the week of three and a half million tons.

Previous Week.

Production of bituminous increased almost to the last shift before the strike call, but because of the decline on the last day of the week, Saturday, April 1, the aggregate production of 10,421,000 tons was slightly under that of the preceding week.

Heavy producing also marked the last five working days in the anthracite fields, according to the survey.
36,255 cars being loaded.

Bituminous coal production during the first week of the coal strike was estimated at "slightly under 4,000,000 tons" by the National Coal association, which declared that while this tonnage was below the capacity of the non-union fields, "the only reason for the restricted production is to be found in the inability of the operators to find a market for their coal."

Lack of Orders.
"Thousands of cars of coal are standing on the mine sidings awaiting billing orders," said a statement issued by the association tonight.
"Reports from non-union fields state that production is running at various rates from 40 per cent to 70 per cent or 80 per cent of normal. In the union fields the factor limiting production is, in general, the strike, but in the non-union fields the limiting factor is described as continued
lack of orders."

The "a. b. c. spot" price of bituminous is practically at the lowest price reached at any time since the United States entered the war. In a restatement said, adding that consumers thus far have displayed no anxiety as to fuel supply.

FIRM AGAINST NATIONAL CONTRACT.
Washington, April 9.—If the house labor committee, or even President

Continued on page 2, column 3.

Sir Conan Doyle To Lecture Here On Spiritualism

Famous Creator of "Sherlock Holmes" Will Make Tour of United States.

New York, April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sir Arthur Conan
Doyle, creator of the materialistic Sherlock Holmes, but now a sincere believer in things spiritual, arrived here tonight to "raid" America.

"I propose to make a raid on American skepticism," he said, in explaining the purpose of his proposed lecture tour. "I propose to raid church and laity alike."

Stepping onto American shores from the White Star liner Baltic for the first time in seven years, the distinguished author admitted that the

Continued on Page 3, Column 6.

SUNDAY MORNING CHURCH RECORDS REPORTED BROKEN

Boy Scouts Count 46,860 Attendants, an Increase of 4,380 Over Same Morning One Week Ago.

TOTAL FOR ONE DAY
APPROACHES 100,000

Union Mass Meeting This Morning to Be Address- ed by Dr. John White and Dr. Arthur Bishop.

Reflecting a steady increase of interest since Atlanta's revival campaign opened one week ago, 46,860 persons attended evangelistic services Sunday morning at the 100 churches participating, an attendance increase of 4,380 over the preceding Sunday.
Figures on the meetings at night were not compiled, but estimates placed the day's attendance at the revival services as approximately 90,000. The census at the morning services was taken by the Boy Scouts.
The meetings have reached a high pitch of religious fervor and the campaign has been marked by more than 100 conversions a day. Deeply spiritual sermons have been delivered by ministers of the local churches and di-vines from other cities.

Union Service Monday.
Monday morning at 11 o'clock a union service of all the churches will be held at Wesley Memorial church.
Dr. John E. White, of Anderson, S. C., former pastor of the Second Baptist church in Atlanta, and Dr. Arthur Bishop, well-known Presbyterian evangelist, of Portland, Ore., will speak. The Emory university quartet will sing.

Revival services started at Trinity Methodist church Sunday, with Rev.
Walt Holcomb, widely-known evangelist and son-in-law of the late Sam
P. Jones, in charge.

Two mass meetings were held Sunday afternoon, one for women and girls at North Avenue Presbyterian church, and the other for men and boys at Central Presbyterian church.
At North Avenue Mrs. J. E. Thacker spoke on "God's Creation or Christian Science." Her husband, Dr. J. E.
Thacker, spoke at the men's meeting on "What Constitutes a Fool."

Reports from Methodists.
In addition to word that the attendance in practically all of the churches has been increasingly large, a number of conversions and additions to the church have been made, according to ministers of the city.

Dr. S. E. Wasson, pastor of St.
Mark's Methodist church, stated that the services led by Dr. W. F. Dunkle, of Tampa, Fla., have been unprecedented in their results. Sixty-two persons are said to have signified their desire to join the church Sunday, 48 on profession of faith.

On the list of those who have expressed their wish to become church members, said Dr. Wasson, is a young boy who has declared his intention to enter the ministry. Four young girls have volunteered for mission field, and others are seeking opportunities for religious work.

Services at St. Mark's church will continue through Wednesday night.
Dr. Dunkle will preach at the morning and evening services Monday.

Payne Memorial church has had the best revival in the history of the church according to the Rev. W. J.
DeBardeleben. Sunday greeted by the best attended day on which services have been held.

The young people and their parents attended the revival meeting held Sunday morning. Ten additions to the church were reported at that time.
The Rev. Mr. DeBardeleben has been preaching revival services, assisted by Rev. B. F. Pimm, of Jonesboro, Ga., who leads the singing.

Monday evening Mr. DeBardeleben will deliver a sermon, which will be entitled "How Secret Sins Are Revealed." A five-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

LEAGUE IS AGAIN CAMPAIGN ISSUE SINCE COX SPOKE

Speech at Jefferson Day Banquet Throws League Into Fight, Say Political Leaders.

MAY RATIFY TREATY OF VERSAILLES YET

Aloofness of America
From European Affairs Blamed by Both Parties for Economic Woe.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 9.—The league of nations has been thrown into a time when republicans and former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, titular head of the democratic party.

This is the reaction of political leaders of both parties here to the Jefferson day banquet, held by the democrats in New York Saturday night.

And the claim of Cox that most of our economic woes of today are due to failure of the United States to co-operate with Europe comes at a time when republican leadership is frankly cognizant of a need to bring about some co-operation.

Harding Agrees.

President Harding is admittedly of the opinion, for example, that America should be represented on the allied reparations commission. And private conversations with officials of the government reveal a unanimity of opinion that the United States today is embarrassed by her isolation, coupled with her position as the great creditor nation of the world.

The fact that both democratic and republican leaders have long argued in favor of greater measures of cooperation with Europe and the further fact that the president has made it clear upon several occasions that the reason such co-operation was impossible was due to the restrictions of the United States senate, constitute an increasingly interesting phase of the forthcoming senatorial campaign.

Cox, in his address before the democratic banqueters in New York, spoke as if for Woodrow Wilson himself in urging the ultimate subscription by the United States to the league of nations covenant.

Interesting Situation.

Cox, like Wilson, believes that many of the economic troubles of the world today would have been eliminated if the United States had entered wholeheartedly into the league, the reparations commission and other bodies of international co-operation.

And, while Harding is opposed to American entrance into the league, he is strongly in favor of participation by this country in the reparations commission. In other words, both Harding, as leader of the republican party, and Cox, as leader of the democratic party, are agreed in assessing the blame for some of our troubles upon the failure of the United States senate to follow the international co-operation idea.

It is an interesting situation, in view of the fact that many of the most prominent senators are under re-election this fall. Wilson, as revealed in these dispatches recently, believes that the treaty of Versailles not only is an issue of the campaign, but that if the democrats win this fall it will be ratified by the senate.
That the democrats are bent upon achieving such ratification is evidenced, according to political leaders here, by Cox's speech in New York.

"Texas Tornado" Shocked By Broadway Sensuality

Editor's Note: The Rev. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, Texas, known as "The Texas Tornado," swept down Broadway after midnight to see what he would see of vice on the Great White Way.
Sunday night The Tornado preached about his experiences and observations at the fashionable Calvary Baptist church, where he is the guest revivalist at the invitation of John Roach Stratton, the famous accuser of the modern stage.

The United News has obtained from The Texas Tornado the following copyright story telling about his night "out among 'em."

BL FRANK NORRIS, D. D.
The Texas Tornado.
New York, April 9.—Fascinating, thrilling, wonderful, brilliant, defying
all laws of God again and again, Broadway as I saw it after midnight recalled to me Isaiah's up-to-date description: "Hell hath enlarged herself and opened her mouth without measure."

For the sake of sounding a note of warning to the girls and boys and to the fathers and mothers of America, while engaged in revival meet-

Heavy Suspense Now Hangs Over City of Atlanta

Gloom Is Thick and Tears Falling as Bim's Wedding Day Approaches.

Suspense hangs over Atlanta like a swarm of collectors over a workingman's head on pay day. Is Uncle Bim Gump going to marry the Widow Zander next Thursday? or am he? or are he? or ain't he? Millions of times these questions probably were asked in these environs Sunday from the mud and slush of the Fairburn road to the wienerswurst stands in Buckhead and from the murky backwaters of the Chattahoochee to the coal chutes in Decatur.

Everybody, everywhere, seemed to be talking about the Gump-Zander wedding Sunday and speculating as to whether it's really going to take place or not. All joined in the common conversation and aired their opinions both pro and con—mostly con about the Widow Zander and her dark and sinister designs on Bim's Australian assets.

Candidates are complaining because for one time people of Atlanta won't take any interest in politics. One candidate for tax collector said he approached a man to ask him for his vote. He said he started the conversation by asking the voter what he thought of the situation.

"Why, I don't believe they'll go through with it," the voter said.
"What, the special election?" the candidate asked.

"Hellshells, no," the voter said vehemently. "I mean the Uncle Bim Gump wedding," the voter replied, and the candidate fled.

In the meantime every development in Sidney Smith's comic strip indicates that the wedding is going to take place. The widow's clothes are sent his dress suit out to the tailor.
And Andy and Min are scrapping around in their wardrobes preparing for the event and little Chester is beginning to wash his neck every night.

It looks mighty like there is going to be a real wedding. But won't something happen to prevent it?
That's what everybody wants to know and the people are about evenly divided over the question.

Old Father Time alone will tell.
So watch The Constitution every day—keep out of arguments on the question—grant your neighbor his right to think about it as he darn pleases—don't punch anybody in the nose—keep your shirt on and try to remain as calm as you can. It's only a few more days now, until the big event comes off, so wash your feet every night, keep cool and you'll come out all right.

TWENTY FRENCH DIE WHEN HIDDEN MINE EXPLODES

Kattowitz, Silesia, April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—More than twenty French soldiers were killed and a dozen wounded today when while searching for hidden arms, a spade struck a detonating mechanism of a hidden mine. The explosion occurred in a cemetery between Gleiwitz and Sosnowitz.

An examination showed that the mine had been planted under a store of arms. The explosion made a crater four feet in diameter and twelve feet deep.

RUMOR IN DUBLIN SAYS DE VALERA IS NOW DEPOSED

London, April 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—It was rumored in London and Dublin late last night that the secret meeting of the Irish republican army in Dublin yesterday deposed Eamon de Valera as leader of the republicans, says The Daily Mail this morning.

The newspaper adds that what actually happened is a mystery, but says some confirmation of the rumor is given by the statement that "de Valera now has no governing part in the republican army."

PLANS OF CHOATE AND OF WATKINS ATTACKED SUNDAY

J. O. U. A. M. Committee Passes Resolutions Declaring in Favor of Present Charter.

MORE AMENDMENTS PROPOSED, HOWEVER

Want Department Heads Elected by People and School Board Absolutely Divorced.

Condemning the Watkins and Choate charters, the good of the order committee, Junior Order United American Mechanics, adopted a resolution at its meeting Sunday afternoon endorsing the present charter, with amendments varying from those which will be voted on by the people May 16.

The amendments favored, and which it is said the Junior Order may fight for when the winning charter is submitted to the legislature this summer, provide for the election of all heads of departments by the people, and a board of education of five members completely divorced from councilmanic interference, with the right to assess a separate tax levy for the schools.

Sims Favors Amendments.
Councilman Walter A. Sims, former member of the board of education, spoke in behalf of the amendments, declaring that his experience in council and on the board had convinced him that absolute separation of the board from council is needed.

Representatives from all Junior Order councils in Atlanta are members of the good of order committee.
This organization was the author of a set of charter suggestions which were submitted to the charter commission to be considered along with the Watkins, Choate and other charter plans offered. The suggestions embodied election of all department heads by popular vote, and independent power for the school board.

Colonel W. J. Simmons, Imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, delivered an address at the meeting Sunday on Americanism.

Campaign Opens This Week.
The charter campaign opens in earnest this week. Proponents of the present charter organized at a meeting Saturday and elected Councilman Claude Ashley chairman. He was authorized to name an executive committee of one member from each ward, including Kirkwood, to shape plans for the fight. He stated that he would be ready to announce the committee by Monday night.

Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the League of Women Voters will hold a meeting at Wesley Memorial church, to which the general public is invited. The league is vigorously supporting the "Atlanta plan" of Councilmaster Watkins.

Hugh M. Willet and Rabbi David Marr, members of the majority faction of the charter commission declaring for the Choate charter, are scheduled to address the membership of the Woman's club Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

A general invitation to the fourteen members of the commission to be present and talk has been extended by Mrs. B. M. Boykin, president of the club.

FULTON TO VOTE ON BONDS MAY 9

Urgent Necessity for Passage of $500,000
Issue for Schools Shown by Virlyn Moore.

Urgent necessity for carrying the $500,000 county school bonds was pointed out Sunday by Virlyn B.
Moore, former president of the county school board. Mr. Moore indicated that the children of Fulton county outside Atlanta will not be able to attend high school during the next few years unless the bonds are voted.
People who live outside the corporate limits of East Point, College Park and Atlanta will be eligible to the voting which will take place on May 9. The date for the election was set Saturday afternoon, from which time five days will be given to register, making April 13 the final day.

The regular polling places throughout the county will be employed, said Mr. Moore. To carry the bonds two-thirds of those voting must be in favor of the issue, and those who vote for bonds must constitute two-thirds of the voters in the county.

The funds are to be expended on school buildings and equipment. About half of the amount will go toward erecting a new high school for Fulton county, as the lease on the present building will run out next year. After that time there will be no facilities

Continued on Page 2, Column 1.

Minority Report Hotly Condemns Navy Money Bill

HARDING TO FIGHT FOR NAVY EQUAL TO PARLEY RATIO

As Lines Form for Navy Bill Clash, Administration Stakes Everything for Bigger Navy.

WILL ALSO BATTLE FOR SHIP SUBSIDY

Politics Said to Have Largely Influenced Back-ers of Small Navy Bill in Stand.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER,
United News Staff Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

Washington, April 9.—President Harding is insistent upon the combined necessities of the United States having a great merchant marine and a navy measuring up to the fullest comprehension of the ratio established by the arms conference.

The two issues—the one found in the navy appropriations bill which would limit the navy personnel to 67,000 men, and the other in the ship subsidy bill—are now occupying administration attention beyond any other issue before it. Involved in the fight around both are political aspirations of several house members, the house leadership is at stake and on the outcome the president and some of his advisers believe the reputation of the administration will be determined.

Already the fight has begun. Led by the president, personally, and backed by Secretary Denby, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, Secretary Hoover, Secretary Hughes and Chairman Lasker, of the United States shipping board, the administration will throw all of its influence back of the drive to compel congress:

Two Issues.
First, to keep the navy to a personnel of from 80,000 to 100,000 men, that it may actually realize the equal footing with England through its great merchant marine.

Second, to bring about a ship subsidy which will give the navy a second line of defense measuring up to that maintained by England through its great merchant marine.

The two issues are directly related and will be pursued by the administration with equal intensity. President Harding has been vitally interested in the building up of a merchant marine since 1903, when Mark Hanna made the merchant marine plan the big issue of his campaign for the senate, and Harding, as a Hanna lieutenant, ran for lieutenant governor of Ohio.

Administration Fate.
So it may be set down now that Harding is determined that both the ship subsidy bill and an adequate navy appropriations bill shall pass congress. It may be stated on highest authority that so great is his concern that he feels the success or failure of the administration in large measure hinges upon the decision of congress on both.

Meantime, politics enters into the fight to a great degree. Leading the

Continued on page 3, column 5.

Atlanta Babies Hold Spotlight For Entire Week

First Center to Be Opened Today at Lee Street School.

Baby week opens today under most auspicious circumstances. Fostered by the Woman's club with the aid of the state board of health, the city department of health, the Anti-Tuberculosis association, and the Red Cross, and having the support of every parent-teacher association in the city, interest will be centered during the present week in the babies of Atlanta.
Child welfare will be the subject of the regular meeting of the Woman's club Monday afternoon when speakers of national and local prominence will discuss child rearing in its various phases.

Baby Center Opens.
At the same time the first baby center will be opened at Lee Street school where mothers are urged to bring their babies for examination by baby specialists. During the week seventeen health centers will be in operation at the various schools, the Barnett mission, Anti-Tuberculosis

Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

Limitation Set on Personnel Put; U. S. Below Japan in Strength, Declares Report.

TWO REPUBLICANS ISSUE STATEMENTS

While Minority Report Is Signed by Five Republicans and One Democrat of Committee.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, April 9.—The proposal of the house appropriations committee for a navy in 1923 of 67,000 men and 6,350 officers was vigorously attacked today in a minority report signed by five republicans and one democrat and in statements issued by Representatives
Britten, Illinois, and McArthur, Oregon, republican members of the house naval committee.

A reduction of the naval forces of the United States to the extent recommended by the bill would "ignore the basic naval policy" set down by the arms conference, the minority report declared, asserting that an enlisted personnel of 80,000, with six thousand apprentices, would be necessary to keep the United States abreast with Great Britain and ahead of Japan.

Representative Britten said if the bill "had been framed by British and Japanese delegates," with the intention of wrecking the American navy,
"they could not have more deliberately reduced the United States to a third-rate power," while Representative Mc-Arthur said a canvass he had made gave him hopes of the adoption of an amendment providing for 80,000 men.

Third Rate Power.
"For the first time in its history," said the minority report filed by six members of the appropriations committee, "this country has adopted a naval policy. It means equality with the strongest. If that policy is now disregarded by adoption of the navy bill, we will sink to the rank of a third-rate naval power, with little voice in any future world council."
No one doubts that the potential superiority of the American navy was the controlling factor in the negotiations of the recent conference. Had with Great Britain and 113,000 as compared with Japan.

Prospects of an amendment being asked to the 1923 naval bill providing for 80,000 enlisted men "are excellent," Representative McArthur, of Oregon, also a republican member of the naval committee said, adding that his prediction was made after canvassing the house membership.

"If the appropriations committee continues this policy of attempting to legislate by withholding funds for the proper activities of the government," said the Oregon member, "there will soon be a revolt among house members and the present system of centralizing all appropriating power in one committee will be abandoned."

BROADWAY SHOCKS "TEXAS TORNADO"

Continued from first page.

ordered her to get into something "soft and dainty," and the piece de resistance of the performance was a game of "strip cupid" between five young women who took off most of their clothing on the stage while maintaining a running fire of suggestive conversation of which one gem was a girl's statement that she felt "so expensive."

But the big craze is the dance—dancing to the strains of the most sensual music; jazz, a mixture of the Indian and the Hawaiian, in dance-halls crowded to suffocation, not starting until 10:30 at night and not quitting until "closing time," which is a moveable hour decided by the inclinations of the people as to whether they shall stay on or go home.

Furnace of Sensuality.

I could not but think that if the churches of New York had been on the job many of these boys and girls, some mothers' sons and some mothers' daughters, would have been saved from this furnace of sensuality, and what they were doing was not dancing, "shimmying" and "dog-walking" are the only movements which the proprietors pretend to regulate, but you might as well try to regulate a powder can as they try to regulate a powder can.

The story of Broadway is the story of undermined national health, decaying morals, absent modesty, of damned souls and wasted money. A couple of sandwiches, a couple of soft drinks worth not more than 75 cents cost you $2 if you buy them on Broadway at night, and you have to give the people, even New Yorkers, the allurements of sin to make them part with so much for so little.

What I saw decreed on the walls of Pompeii during a visit two years ago I saw by night on Broadway, in modern New York. It is the same wickedness of which St. Mark wrote: "Being filled with unrighteousness, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, malice, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, inventors of evil things, disobedient of parents, without understanding, covenant breakers, implacable, unmerciful, who know the recompense of such things are worthy of death, not only do the same but have pleasure in them that do them."

Church Crowded Out.

I saw a great tragedy in a half-demolished church which the wreckers are clearing away from the heart of the theater district and night club region, an historic church, being crowded from the haunts of evil where there is not room for the house of God. There was the story of America today; churches going out of business and theaters booming. What Gibbons will write "The Rise and Fall of the American Republic."

York goes morally, so does the nation.

And here in New York American youth by the hundreds of thousands are being swept into the mouth of hell. I saw pretty young girls, innocent girls, I sincerely hope, for I am an optimist, sitting on a bench in a dance hall where subdued, sensuous colored lights played upon the dancers as they inched about the floor in close embrace. Those girls on the bench were waiting for men to come along and rent them at a small price—10 cents a dance, I believe. They are the girls for the "stage"—for men who come unaccompanied, who, perhaps, are so utterly vile that they cannot persuade any young woman in all this city to go out dancing with them. Yet these girls on the bench can be rented, and, being rented, they must dance with the man who chooses them.

There are those who say that ministers should not deal with such things. But if a rattlesnake is in my back yard down home in Texas, I will not debate the means of dispatching him.

New York ought to build two statues, one in Wall street, called "Mammon," and the other in Broadway, called "Aphrodite." And New York also needs to hear the voice of a John the Baptist, to cry out the word of prophecy and judgment: "Thus with chariots the horse city be torn down and be found no more."

3,500,000 TONS COAL MINED DURING WEEK

Continued from first page.

Harding, would settle the coal strike at this time, in the opinion of operators' spokesmen here, John L. Lewis must be persuaded to allow district settlements throughout the so-called central competitive field.

The passage by the house of the amendment providing that no funds be given to the department of justice can be used in prosecuting the operators or miners for entering a conference, does not alter that viewpoint of the operators, it was said.

P. H. Penna, secretary of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' association, which characterized the house committee's reports toward a joint conference here as "hopeless." He is regarded as the chief spokesman for the operators of the central competitive field and his attitude may be accepted as typical of the whole bituminous coal industry.

Members of the house labor committee are now considering a direct appeal to President Harding to "instruct" that both sides come together.

SAYS PAY DEMANDS MEAN HIGHER COAL

New York, April 9.—Samuel D. Warner, president of the Lehigh Valley Coal and Navigation company and spokesman for the anthracite mine operators, issued a statement tonight in which he declared that the success of the wage conference between the miners, now out on strike, would result in an increase of $3 a ton in the cost of coal to consumers.

Mr. Warner's statement, made public in connection with the resumption Tuesday of conferences of the miners' and operators' subcommittees on wage contract negotiations, cast the attitude of the owners will take in presenting their formal answer to the 19 demands of the men, outlining the present session.

"Anthracite producers see no reason to change the opinion expressed at the opening of these conferences," said Mr. Warner, "namely, that conditions demand a substantial reduction in the price of hard coal. We desire to pay good wages. But the rate of pay is not so important as regularity of employment."

The problem to be solved is what scale of wages will permit the production of anthracite at a price the consumer is willing to pay. For, as shown, if the price is too high, consumption declines and the result is irregular employment and dissatisfaction all around.

Declaring that the miners' demands would all result in less production and more competition, Mr. Warner said an analysis showed that, if granted, they would add approximately $170,000,000 to the annual cost of producing 55,000,000 tons of domestic sizes of coals. This would mean an added cost of more than $3 a ton to the consumer, he said.

The hourly wage scale of the miners has increased 162 per cent between 1914 and 1921, the mine official asserted. He gave figures for 1917 to 1920, inclusive, which showed a decrease in production from 74,000,000 to 65,500,000 tons in the four-year period, while the wage bill advanced from $345,000,000 to $292,175,000 in the same time.

The payroll in 1921, he said, was approximately $260,000,000, which would be increased to $430,000,000 if the miners' demands were conceded.

Mr. Warner expressed confidence that the situation in the coal fields is presented to the miners' representatives that they will see the impossibility of granting demands, which had been met only by their wages "still further out of line with others and ultimately react to their own disadvantage."

Zeigfeld Beauty Proves Producer Was Good Picker

Atlantans who gathered yesterday afternoon to see Miss Billie Dove, movie actress and famous beauty and dancer, on her arrival from Washington, were a unit in the declaration that Zeigfeld was a good picker. The former favorite of the Follies proved beyond a question, on her personal appearance in this city, that no screen tricks had been necessary to enhance her reputation for charm and comeliness.

An enthusiastic party of friends greeted her and whisked her away to her suite of rooms at the Ansley hotel. Later she received her friends and representatives of the daily papers in her parlor. The room was lit up with electric light.

Since her childhood in little old New York only a few years ago, Miss Dove has had a longing to appear on the stage and on the screen. Reading of the rise of others in theatrical careers and seeing the covers and pictures of theatrical magazines, she was prompted to go on the stage.

Her first appearance in pictures came many months ago when she played in "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," after that she had a better part in "The Girl from the Sea." She played Alysia Potter with Constance Talmadge in "Poly of the Follies."

No one who saw that picture at the Metropolitan theatre could forget the little beauty who played Polly and led the famous Zeigfeld chorus on the opening night.

Miss Dove's fourth and latest picture is "Beyond the Clouds," which is the Grand this week. She will be seen in person on the Grand stage Monday night, Tuesday and Wednesday.

It is understood that she will soon be a star in her own right. Rumor has it that a motion picture producer recognized as one of the largest and most influential in the country is attempting to secure Miss Dove's contract for a series of films.

TRINITY CROWDED TO HEAR SERMONS OF WALT HOLCOMB

The first service of the evangelistic campaign at the Trinity Methodist church Sunday morning was very largely attended and a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested.

Walt Holcomb, the evangelist, took his morning text from Matthew 18:20: "For where two or three are gathered in my name, there I am in the midst of them." and spoke of "Gathering in Touch With the One Higher Up." He showed that the text was appropriate to a houseful as well as a handful.

Mr. Holcomb showed how the heart of the text was in the matter of agreement in "His name," and that Jesus guaranteed to His people to be present with them, whenever and wherever they may be so assembled in His name. He said, "There are a multitude of things upon which we cannot agree, but Christians agree that a revival is needed and this lies near the heart of Jesus than any thing else. Christ declares that it shall be done of His Father in heaven, which puts us in direct touch with the One Higher Up."

At the Sunday evening service Mr. Holcomb used as his subject, "Our Unfinished Work," showing how every man has his work to do, and stating that unless he does that task and finishes the work, for himself, the unfinished work will remain and meet him at the judgment in an unfinished state. "No one can finish his work, or take it up and carry it on," he asserted. "Those who are behind with their work, of prayer, study and working for the salvation of the world, need to work overtime and catch up," he said, "and that is just what the revival service is planned for, that we as Christians may catch up with our kingdom service."

Monday night will be "everybody's night," the evangelist will preach on, "A Look Backward; A Step Forward." Ralph Porterfield will lead the big chorus in a song service, beginning at 8:15 and ending at 9:15, a solo just before Mr. Holcomb preaches.

BIG CONGREGATIONS AT SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Sunday was marked by great congregations at the Second Baptist church, both morning and evening. Dr. Porter spoke also to the junior department of the Sunday school, at which time many of the boys and girls signified their acceptance of Christ.

Dr. Porter's subject at the night service was "The Tragedy of the Unseen Hand." There were 18 conversions, making 35 for the week.

Dr. Porter's subjects for the week follow: Monday, "A Giant Who Squandered His Strength." Tuesday, "A Farmer Who Gambled With Ruin." Wednesday, "A Politician Who Didn't Care." Thursday, "A Thief Who Robbed Himself." Friday, "A King Who Stole a Ghost."

Boy Is Drowned.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—Dorsett Roberts, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Roberts, of Alapaha, was drowned when the boat from which he and his father were fishing was overturned. Mr. Roberts had a narrow escape. The body was recovered about three hours after the accident and was buried in the Nashville cemetery Saturday afternoon.

Railway ties in England made from Austrian jarrah wood, even without creosoting, have been known to last 30 years.

WE SELL FORD CARS A. L. BELLE ISLE—IVY 507

No Soap Better
—For Your Skin
Than Cuticura

BUY A CHEVROLET
Woodward Motor Co. Ivy 7838

Georgia Bankers To Leave Today For Annual Tour

Bankers composing the five groups of the Georgia Bankers' association will leave on today to attend the seventeenth annual meetings of the five groups to be held in their respective districts through the remainder of the week.

Monday's meeting will be held at Canton. Tuesday the bankers will meet at Monroe; Wednesday at Bainbridge; Thursday at Tifton, and Friday at Cordele.

The bankers, including a strong representation from Atlanta, will travel in a special train to all the meetings, except the first two, which will be reached from Atlanta as a base.

At all the meetings subjects to be discussed include "Control of the Boil 'Weevil,'" by J. A. Taylor, Tallulah, La., of the advisory district loan committee, United States experiment station; "The War Finance Corporation," by Robert Emmet Harvey, Atlanta, secretary agricultural loan committee for Georgia and Florida; "Educating the Public on the Principles of Banking," by Robert S. Strickland, Jr., president of the National bank, Atlanta, and chairman educational committee Georgia Bankers' association; "Co-operative Marketing," by W. H. Hunter, of Cornelia, chairman organization committee, Georgia Farm Market federation.

Robert P. Maddox, president Atlanta National bank, will speak at Canton on "The Outlook." This is the group which includes Atlanta. The proposed changes in state tax laws will lead the discussion from the floor in all the groups.

The party includes: From New York, A. H. Aseltine, Chase National bank; William B. Smith, Hanover National bank; C. E. Schwartz, Mechanics and Metals National bank; J. T. Walker, National Bank of Commerce, and Walter S. Jelliffe, of the National Bank.

Atlanta National bank; F. Alexander, Wharton, Central Bank and Trust corporation; W. B. Crowley, of the Citizens' National bank; M. Slatery, Federal Reserve bank; Stewart McGinty and Robert Strickland, Jr., of the Fourth National; Dr. William J. Black and Robert G. Clay, of the Fulton National; Harry H. Johnson, of the Lowry National, and Albert Pritchard, of the Trust Company of Georgia.

Other Atlanta bankers making the tour will be Robert E. Harvey, secretary of the War Finance corporation's Georgia committee, and James McEwen, secretary of the Georgia Bankers' association.

Others on the tour will be C. O. Carpenter, of the Fourth National bank; W. B. Spinn, Jr., of the Citizens and Southern bank; Savannah; Hugh H. Saxon, of the Georgia Railroad bank, Augusta; W. H. Hunter, of Cornelia, chairman United States department of agriculture, Tallulah, La., and W. B. Hunter, of the Georgia Farm Market federation.

'Own Your Home' Show is Boosted By Leading Firms

A large number of additional names of leading Atlanta firms who will have displays at the "Own Your Home" exposition were announced Wednesday by R. W. Evans, chairman of the "Own Your Home" campaign committee. The announcement was made simultaneously with that to the effect that an intensive advertising campaign is being launched this week by the committee.

The names of a large number of exhibitors were recently announced, and those in connection with the following, include the leaders in practically every line connected with the realty and building businesses, said Mr. Evans.

New Exhibitors.

The following additional exhibitors were announced Wednesday: B. Mifflin Hood Brick Co.; Phoenix Planing Mill; Salmon Realty Co., R. O. Campbell Coal Co., Western & Connors, Benjamin D. Watkins, L. W. Rogers Realty & Trust Co., Southern Real Estate Co., Patillo Lumber Co., Equitable Life Insurance Co., Evans & Dodd, realty; Southern Bell Telephone Co., Southern Brick and Tile Co., Steele Realty and Development Co., W. E. Browne Decorating Co., J. H. Gray Decorating Co., Disbro Lumber Co., M. C. Kiser Realty Co., A. Adams and Gates, "Sanitary Plumbing Co., Winter Home, Mrs. William L. Zettie, Inc., Queen Mantel and Tile Co., Brownlee and Shaw, Burdette Realty Co., Russell Electric Co., Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Hazard Construction Co., Haas & Howell Insurance Co., V. H. Krieger and Son, Lella Ross and Wilburn.

Asbestos, Shingle, Slate and Sheathing Co., Cromer & Thornton, Georgia Dehydration Co., J. R. Smith and M. S. Rankin, realty; Crane company, Caloric Furnace Co., Carmichael Tile Co., Homer Furnace Co., Atlanta Trust Co., Moncrief Furnace Co., and Southern Spring Bed Co.

Elaborate Displays.

Displays elaborate, artistic and expensive beyond anything ever seen in the south, and probably in the entire country, will be seen at the exposition, which will be held in the Auditorium May 8 to 13, said Mr. Evans. Some of them will represent expenditures running well up over two thousand dollars, it is said. Many others will be striking because of their peculiar interest. Among the latest, was mentioned that of the Asbestos, Shingle, Slate and Sheathing company, of Atlanta, which will feature methods and materials for building of fireproof homes. Roofing, wall-board, sheathing and flooring that is claimed to be absolutely fireproof will be shown and explained, and the use of construction will be shown by actual demonstration throughout the exposition by an expert.

Arrangements will be made to answer all questions pertaining to such materials, and to furnish those desiring it quick estimates on costs. Out-of-town attendants upon the exposition who desire estimates are urged by those in charge of the display to bring their building plans with them, and estimates will be given them within an hour, so, it is promised.

Authentic Information.

Arrangements of a similar nature to render like service in all the other lines will be made by other exhibitors, it is said, and the result will be that prospective builders will be able to get within a very short time authentic information, data and estimates, that under ordinary circumstances would require days of going from place to place in the city and holding consultations.

The advertising campaign being launched this week has for its purpose the aim of not only thoroughly advertising the "Own Your Home" drive in Atlanta and suburbs, but all over the United States, so that the whole nation may know what Atlanta is doing. A number of large billboard signs are being put up, hundreds of attractive cards and posters are being gotten out, and stamps are being distributed to merchants and business houses generally to be placed on outgoing mail.

Probably the most attractive feature of all, however, will be displays to be placed in about fifty of the leading stores of the city. These will consist of miniature houses, nestling on cool green lawns, and all surrounded by neat little white fences, set in the midst of a window appropriately decorated.

It is a mother's first duty to see that her baby is properly nourished and she can do this with inferior foods for the child or herself.

Neither can she do it when tired to exhaustion. She should have wholesome foods and be relieved of every tire some drudgery.

OURS IS A CLEAN STORE. WE EAT & WHOLE SOME FOODS ONLY ARE HANDLED. AND WE ARE THE ONLY FOOD STORE TO RECEIVE THE OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT MEDICAL O. K. DURING THE RECENT WAR.

Style meets comfort at the rounded corners of this low, conservative collar.

This Ide collar has the exclusive LINO-CORD Buttonhole, which makes it hold for life its original easy pose.

GEO. P. IDE & CO., INC.
TROY, N. Y.

STEWARD'S Junior Shoe Department

We offer Growing Girls' "Billikens" in Brown Kid, Brown Calf and Patent 2-Straps with buckles in sizes 2½ to 6.

The Billiken Shoe $5.85

Also Brown Calf 1-Strap and Brown Kid Lace Oxfords, all with rubber heels, at the same price.

Prompt Mail Order Service

Visit Our Hosiery Dept.

Everybody's Night at Trinity M. E. Church

Subject: "Looking Backward, Stepping Forward."

Walt Holcomb PORTERFIELD'S BIG CHORUS. Song service 7:45—Dr. S. R. Belk, Pastor.

Freak Egg Brought To The Constitution By Buford, Ga., Man

Christopher Columbus, who devised the trick of making an egg stand on its rounded end in addition to acquiring considerable reputation as an explorer, would have experienced no difficulty in performing his famous trick with the egg brought to The Constitution office Saturday by D. E. Verner, of Buford, Ga.

Mr. Verner discovered the freak egg in his chicken yard Friday. It's shape was in the form of a miniature gourd, such as is commonly used in certain rural sections by women to aid in darning socks—that is in the isolated sections where socks are worn by the gentlemen populace.

The egg was devoid of a "yellow" and other fundamentals such as are found in a perfectly normal specimen.

MRS. STERLING TURNER DIES IN FORT WAYNE

News was received in Atlanta Sunday of the death at her home in Fort Wayne, Ind., Sunday morning of Mrs.

Sterling G. Turner, formerly Miss Ethel Lee Rock, of this city, and widely known here. She was 30 years of age.

Mrs. Turner's husband is also known in Atlanta. He was manager of the Atlanta Car Wheel Manufacturing company when that industry was operating in Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Turner removed to Fort Wayne seven years ago.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Turner is survived by one daughter, Frances; two sons, Edward and Billy; her mother, Mrs. E. B. Rock of Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. F. W. Hart and Mrs. J. L. Almon, of Atlanta; two brothers, E. B. and C. B. Rock, of Atlanta. Funeral and interment will take place at Fort Wayne.

Wrennick Makes Bond.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Former Cashier H. E. Wrennick, of the Bank of Ty Ty, arrested under a charge of embezzlement, has been released on bond. The amount of the bond was at first fixed at $8,000, but later reduced to $2,500 on request of attorneys for the prosecution. Wrennick's brother and two citizens of Ty Ty made the bond.

Do Not Delay Your Easter Shopping

Our store is literally full of choice foods—staples and delicacies—from which you have a wide range of choice in providing for your table.

A shopping tour through our store is a pleasure to all and a revelation to many.

WE ASK THAT YOU SHOP EARLY IN THE WEEK—TAKE YOUR TIME AND SHOP LEISURELY—SECURE THE CHOICEST SELECTIONS AND THE BEST SERVICE.

GEORGIA CREAMERY BUTTER 2 lbs. for 79c

GEORGIA COUNTRY HAMS 10 to 15 lbs. each Pound 40c

GEORGIA SPECIAL LARGE WHITE EGGS (Safe Eggs) 3 doz. for $1.00 They are worth the difference.

OLD MONK OLIVE OIL Qt. Bottle ... $1.55

FRESH SWEET MILK Quart 13c

SLICED BREAKFAST BACON LB. 34c

JONES' DAIRY FARM LITTLE SAUSAGE LB. 48c

Blue Label Succotash Green Lima Beans and Sweet, Tender Corn—Cans 35c

Golden Bantam Corn on Cob Perfect whole ears of fresh corn—10 to 11 to the can—Cans $1.45

Canned and Bottled Specials

HEARTS OF PALMS—Cans $1.80
MACEDONIAN—Cans35
SPRINGLESS BEANS—Cans50
FRENCH TINY LIMA BEANS—Cans50
CUTTED TINY LIMA BEANS—Cans50
DEL MONTE WHITE ASPARAGUS TIPS—Cans, each50
Dorset
ROYAL SOFTENED LARGES WHITE ASPARAGUS TIPS—each 4.50
PREMIER COLOSSAL WHITE ASPARAGUS—No. 2 1/2 Tins, each85
Dorset
OLIVE HOUSE SLICED PINEAPPLE—Highest possible grade, 25 lbs. 1.00
STUFFED ORANGES—Jar50
TINY PEARL ONIONS—Jar50
CUTTED BEANS PICKLE PEACHES 2.00
HESTER PRIZE PICKLE PEACHES 1.15
RAFFERTY'S REDDIE—Jar 1.75
MELBA SAUCE—Bottles, 10 and 25 lbs. 7.80
FRUIT SALAD—36 oz. 2 Tins, dozen 1.50
LIBBY'S MELBA PEACHES—4 halves to each can50
PREMIER TINY POT PEAS—No. 2 Tins, dozen 5.00
(Only a limited quantity)
GORDON & DILLWORTH'S ORANGE MARMALADE—Jars35

Georgia Corn Meal Black-Eyed Peas 12-lb. Peck 31c 3-lbs. for 25c

Rolled Oats Premier Corn Flakes 3-lbs. for 20c 3 pkgs. for 25c

BAMBO WHITE TOILET SOAP, Dozen.. 50c Regularly 10c

Charge Accounts of Responsible Parties Solicited

TELEPHONE SERVICE—DELIVERY SERVICE

Kemper's 492-498 Peachtree St. Telephone Hamlock 8000

ROGERS

17c Value Ga. Packed

PIMENTOS

11c

ROGERS

No. 2 Can Ga.

Dessert PEACHES

In Heavy Syrup

17c

ROGERS

30c Value Welch's

APPLE BUTTER

21c

ROGERS

15-oz. Welch's

Ass't Flavors

LADES

25c

ROGERS

SKOOKUM'S

Finest Quality Pure Fruit

JAM

30c

ROGERS

22 DICTIONARIES IN ONE

All Dictionaries published previous to this one are out of date

How to Get It

For the Most Minimal Cost of Manufacture and Distribution

3 Coupons 98c and

secures this NEW, authentic Dictionary bound in black seal grain, illustrated with full pages in color and duotone.

Present or mail to this paper three Coupons with ninety-eight cents to cover cost of handling, packing, clerk hire, etc.

MAIL! age up to 300 ORDERS miles, from 300 to 600 miles, 15c. WILL BE FILLED For greater distance, add 25c.

Today only All $8.00 silk shirts

$5.85

Richly colored silk shirts that possess wearing qualities as well as good looks and fine style. Be sure to look them over.

Watch for our daily specials

Daniel Bros. Company

Founded 1886 Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes 45 to 49 Peachtree

Alert Real Estate Salesmen Wanted

A large Atlanta real estate company has an opportunity for two live-wire real estate salesmen who can handle big deals efficiently.

Enthusiasm—energy—a good appearance and confidence in yourself is required.

Address: "Real Estate," Care The Constitution

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION New Universities Dictionary COUPON

How to Get It

For the Most Minimal Cost of Manufacture and Distribution

3 Coupons 98c and

secures this NEW, authentic Dictionary bound in black seal grain, illustrated with full pages in color and duotone.

Present or mail to this paper three Coupons with ninety-eight cents to cover cost of handling, packing, clerk hire, etc.

MAIL! age up to 300 ORDERS miles, from 300 to 600 miles, 15c. WILL BE FILLED For greater distance, add

SOUTHEASTERN COAL MEN CONVENE TODAY

Problems that affect every Atlanta burning coal in home or factory and the rest of the nation as well will be discussed at the first annual meeting of the Southeastern Coal Merchants' association, to be held at the Ansley hotel today and Tuesday. A number of prominent figures in the coal industry throughout the country will be present.

Roderick Stephens, president of the National Retail Coal Merchants' association, will be present to deliver an address which will be one of the features of the meeting. Mr. Stephens is an authority on matters pertaining to the distribution and sale of coal, and his address is looked forward to with interest.

Among others who will participate in the convention will be George Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal association, who will be the official representative of the wholesale coal industry.

Representing the coal operators will be J. D. A. Morrow, vice president of the American Coal association. Others who have been invited to address the body are Governor Hardwick, Mayor Key and W. O. Foote, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will be called to order by President J. A. Yarbrough, of Charlotte, N. C. Speeches will begin at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and will be resumed tomorrow morning. A business session will be held Tuesday afternoon.

The Georgia division of United Confederate Veterans will hold its annual reunion at Rome, September 20-21, it is announced in General Order No. 1, issued by Commander A. J. Twigg, of Augusta, through Adjutant General Bridges Smith, of Macon.

Commander Twigg urges all who can of "the numbers that now are few and are decreasing year by year," to attend and "revive the comradeship of campfires, tent and battlefield of the time when they were all brothers in arms."

The people of Rome are planning to entertain the veterans in their homes. General Twigg appoints Major W. S. Jones, of Louisville, as commander of the eastern brigade, Georgia division in General Order No. 2.

Committee Named In Ninth to Work
For Dr. Gilbert

Mrs. George S. O'bear, Jr., has been named chairman of the women's division, and John C. Rasbury, chairman of the men's division of a campaign committee in the ninth ward, to work for the interest of Dr. W. L. Gilbert in his candidacy for Fulton county tax collector.

A meeting of ninth ward citizens was held Saturday night at the residence of J. L. McCord, who is associated on the ticket with Dr. Gilbert and ward plans for the campaign were mapped out. Mrs. O'bear has named a telephone committee of twenty women to get in touch with the voters.

SPECIAL OPERA COMMITTEE WILL MEET ON MONDAY

A meeting of the special committee sponsoring Tuesday's opera musicale, "Ernani," has been called by Mrs. T. T. Stevens, chairman, for Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's club. Plans for the performance are to be perfected at Monday's meeting.

Those on the committee are Mrs. Odie C. Poundstone, Miss Annie Stewart Flint, Mrs. W. C. King, Mrs. P. H. Naeffle, Mrs. H. C. Chapman, Mrs. M. L. Throver, Mrs. A. P. Treadwell, Mrs. Clarence Coppedge, Mrs. John T. Toler, Mrs. William Oldknow, Mrs. William Fish, Mrs. George Breitenbacher, Mrs. W. F.

Woman's Club Auditorium Will Open April 17 With "Democracy de Luxe"

Miss Ersline Jarnigan as Marjorie Blake and Louis Morrison as Gene Danforth in "Democracy de Luxe," written especially for the opening of the Woman's club auditorium by Parker Hord, and to be presented April 17, 18 and 19 by the Players' club of Atlanta, complimentary to the Woman's club.

An epoch-making first night will be staged in Atlanta on the evening of April 17—a first night that is at the same time a theatrical and civic event of prime importance.

On that date the beautiful new auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club will be formally opened, a hall seating 604 persons, perfect in all its appointments and equipped with the latest and most complete staging arrangements. In this hall, which is destined to house a brilliant series of theatricals, concerts and assemblies of civic groups in the years to come, will be given a new play written especially for the occasion by Parker Hord and produced by the Players' club of Atlanta as a tribute to the Woman's club, wherein all the cast are local players.

Atlanta artists, on many occasions in the past, have proved that they were capable of producing plays that lacked nothing of professional standards and finish. The coming event is destined to prove that an Atlanta-made product can achieve the best and highest plane of Broadway perfection.

"Democracy de Luxe," the title of Mr. Hord's comedy, is a worthy successor to the same playwright's "The Miz-Ur," which Marie Dressler used as a Broadway vehicle a short time ago.

Melton, Mrs. Alfredo Barill, Jr., Mrs. Robert Hudson, Mrs. H. H. Turner, Mrs. Roger Wilson, Mrs. Charles Coffey, Mrs. Lee Hagan, Mrs. C. E. Dowman, Mrs. A. L. Haskins, Mrs.

ago. It has all the snap and sparkle, the wit and clever situations of the successful drawing-room comedies which run for months in the larger cities. In fact, it is rumored that more than one producer will be in the audience Monday evening of next week to inspect the merits of the play for professional production.

The Players' club, in staging the event, has drawn on its most gifted members for the cast. Mrs. Urie Atkinson, the leading woman, has proved herself an emotional actress of the most pronounced talent in many past productions. Miss Ersline Jarnigan, charming young "Junior League Follies star," makes her second appearance in "Democracy de Luxe." Miss Cleveland Zahner, in character roles, has a long-standing series of successes.

Flipped D. Burge, the leading man, is remembered for his brilliant work in "Monsieur Beaucaire," was declared to have been one of the finest performances ever witnessed in Atlanta. Other male members all are seasoned actors, including Louis Morrison, W. G. Perry, of Tech; Henry E. Peoples, Harry Ellerby, Victor and Cyril Smith.

The play is set in a Washington drawing room, where the action extends over a period of two days. It deals with ambassadors and adventures, butlers and serving maids, young lovers, who find the way of true love far from smooth, and many other materials which combine into a brilliant audience, a most satisfactory climax.

There will be three performances on successive days. The demand for seats to the opening performance has already been so heavy that a sold-out house is forecast shortly after the opening of the seat sale at the Cable Piano company on Monday morning. Those who fail to secure seats for Monday evening will be able to find places for Tuesday evening or Wednesday matinee.

At the first performance there will be a brilliant assembly of some of the leading social and civic figures in the city. It is predicted that the scene will rival grand opera for its colorful audience. Tuesday evening's performance will be under the patronage of the Junior league, when another capacity house of unusual distinction will be registered.

The price of seats will be $2, $1.50 and $1. Practically every seat in the house is a choice seat, owing to the intimate nature of the auditorium.

W. K. Wyant, Mrs. William Rawlings, Mrs. W. A. Crossland, Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, Mrs. C. Spurgeon King, Mrs. U. T. Kowh, Mrs. Morgan Stephens, Mrs. L. T. Stal-

HEALTH CENTERS OPEN

(Hours 1:30-5 P. M.)

Monday—Lee Street school.
Tuesday—Williams Street school, Grant Park school, Barnett mission, Oakland City school, East Atlanta school, Atlanta Woman's club, Anti-Tuberculosis association, Colored—Sumner Hill school, Anti-Tuberculosis association, 23 East Cain.

Wednesday—Fair Street school, Anti-Tuberculosis association, Colored—Anti-Tuberculosis association, 23 East Cain.

Thursday—Lee Street school, Williams Street school, Barnett mission, 52 Bradley avenue; East Atlanta school, Forrest Avenue school, Atlanta Woman's club, Moreland Avenue school, Colored—Sumner Hill school.

Friday—Georgia Avenue school, Moreland Avenue school.

Saturday—Moreland Avenue school.

BABIES IN SPOTLIGHT IN CITY THIS WEEK

Continued from first page.

association and the Woman's club. Mothers are urged to keep in touch with these centers, find out the one nearest and the date, and take their babies to them.

The best children's specialists in the city will be stationed at these centers and will carefully weigh and examine babies from 6 months to 5 years of age. A blank will be filled out and presented to the mother who will be informed regarding her child's condition and whether there is any necessity for special treatment.

One of the most prominent local children's specialists, when consulted Sunday, declared that the value of a week set aside for the special examination and study of children could not be underestimated and that the effect of such a program on the infant mortality rate during the coming summer should show marked results.

"Every mother should have her child examined whether there is any obvious reason for so doing or not," this child specialist declared. "A child may have some slight defect that only a physician can detect. And by the way," he added, "95 per cent of children's disturbances are digestive."

"An examination will enable a mother to discover her child's defect, if any, and if a child is well she will learn the importance of preventive care. The great amount of good to be accomplished by the permanent health centers which will be established as a result of Baby week will be to keep well children well."

The following pointed advice was given by this physician regarding the care of babies:

Babies should be fed regularly and at stated intervals. If a baby is asleep when it is time to be nourished, wake it up. Do not feed it until it is hungry.

Keep the baby thoroughly clean and do not burden it with an overabundance of clothing.

Give the baby plenty of clean, cool drinking water.

Consult the laboratory of health department as to the standard of the dairy furnishing the baby's milk. Be guided by its advice and use only milk supplied from Holstein cows.

If you consult a doctor, follow his advice.

HARDING TO FIGHT FOR NAVAL MATRONS

Continued from first page.

"small navy" bloc, as represented in the appropriations bill, framers who would limit the navy personnel to 67,000 are Representatives Patrick Kelley, of Michigan; Mondell, of Wyoming; and Madden, of Illinois. Kelley is a candidate for the senate this year and is staking much on the outcome of his fight for reduced naval expenditures. Mondell has his eyes on the senatorship, too, and Madden is looking with longing upon the house leadership shoes, which would be vacated if Mondell went into the upper branch of congress. All are riding the economy wave, when they believe is popular throughout the country.

Forecast impossible. It is yet too early to forecast what will happen after the president and his cabinet turn loose all of their ammunition. Denby already has spoken. Secretary Hughes probably will enter the fight with a statement of how the naval ratio would be jeopardized by the proposed reduced personnel. Assistant Secretary Roosevelt is going to unburden himself on the subject Tuesday. The president for the moment is withholding his fire but will speak when the opportune moment arises.

When this broadside from the executive end of the avenue has been loosed there is certain to be a wide split in the republican party of the house. On the outcome may depend whether there will be administration support of different representatives running for re-election to congress or for the senate. There are some even who believe Mondell's leadership in the house may be at stake, but all agree that, with the coming election hinging largely upon the personal issue of Harding's popularity, the president is in a position to assert his leadership on these two big issues which are closest to his heart—and that he will do so is evidenced plainly by himself and his advisers.

Church Adopting Tenets. Sir Arthur declared that the Church of England is adopting most of the tenets of spiritualism, although it cannot admit it. He said churchmen the world over are leaning that way in their services, because "there is nothing else they can do and be truthful."

Sir Arthur does not believe in so-called mediums who are silver or glass globes, and cards of various descriptions, weirdly moving tables, characterizing such things as "fakes." Spiritualism isn't that. Spiritualism, he explained, is the truth of philosophy and religion combined, which cannot be escaped.

"I have many times spoken with my friend Kingsley Conan Doyle," he continued, "but that is not strange. I wanted to talk to him, he wanted to talk to me. We talked. Kingsley isn't dead—and it is interesting to note that from such seances the truth about the after life is becoming more and more apparent."

Nothing Mysterious. "Simplified, spiritualism is merely a great white truth of the Bible and religion. It is pristine purity of thought and action combined. There is nothing mysterious about it. It is clear and open. All you have to do is to think of a life after death, a life of invariable beauty—and realize that there can be no fear of death because with spiritualism you know exactly what is going to happen to you."

Denis, Malcolm and Dina, the three Doyle children, are spiritualists, but they have never attended seances. The reason is that Sir Arthur and Lady Doyle do not believe in subjecting them to a possible nervous reaction.

"Why," said Sir Arthur, "I went to church three times a week when I was a child. It became a sort of nausea with me. I became a materialist of the worst kind. So I shall allow the children to make their own lives. And they will be the more ardent spiritualists because I do it."

Sir Arthur calls himself a Theist, a believer of an infinite, omnipotent, omniscient God. His development in spiritualism, he said, has taken 30 years from the time he read a book written by the late Justice Edmunds, of the supreme court of New York. His intense interest in the subject dates from the death of his son, who was wounded during the war and died of pneumonia shortly after the armistice.

DR. M. ASHBY JONES SPEAKS TO NEGROES

A large audience of men greeted Dr. M. Ashby Jones yesterday afternoon at the colored Y. M. C. A., when he delivered a sermon on Matthew 26:21-22. There were many uplifted hands when the appeal was made for men to live higher and better lives. J. L. Wheeler, chairman of the religious work committee, presented Dr. Jones.

Secretary Trent called attention to the membership renewal campaign that will run through the present month, and urged that a special effort be made on the part of the members to get others into the organization.

The New Universities Dictionary Should Always Be Within Reach

Language can best be studied through a good dictionary. One should always have a dictionary. The New Universities Dictionary, within reach. Whenever you hear or read a word you don't understand look it up! Our coupon offer, elsewhere in this paper, gives all our readers a chance to possess this word treasury almost free.—(Adv.)

The Atlanta Revival Growing in Intensity

46,860 people attended the services in the churches Sunday morning, an increase of 4,380 over last Sunday.

The union meeting at Wesley Memorial church at 11 o'clock Monday morning will be great. A Baptist preacher, a Presbyterian evangelist, and a Methodist quartet will be heard.

Don't fail to hear Dr. John E. White, of Anderson, S. C.; Dr. Arthur F. Bishop, of Portland, Ore., and the Emory quartet.

Services every night this week in the church nearest you.

Let's Go!

June Twilights

In the Canadian Pacific Rockies

Crystal lakes mirror forests and snow caps; hotels and chalets gleam with the gold of a thousand lights; music, dancing and gay social life crown the happy hours of sunshine spent in climbing, riding, motoring, golfing or swimming in warm sulphur pools. A vacation in the Canadian Pacific Rockies overflows with thrills. Climbing feats are made easy by Swiss guides. Alps and "close ups" of big game await your camera. All so easy to reach.

Canadian Pacific Railway

E. C. CHENBROUGH,
Gen. Agt. Pass. Dept.,
40 N. Forsyth St., Atlanta, Ga.
Telephone IVY 7805.
All information concerning Canada furnished on request. Canadian newspapers on file.

Thirty Years of Service

Managing Estates

KNOWING WHAT TO DO—HOW TO DO IT
WHEN TO DO IT—AND DOING IT RIGHT

SATISFYING EVERYBODY INTERESTED

We Act as Administrator

only under appointment by the Court, when there is no Will. We must make bond in double the value of the estate, at the estate's expense. If there are minors, the Court appoints Guardians, who must make bond in double the value of the property, at the expense of the children.

Equal division must be made among the "nearest of kin," without regard to their age, mental, physical or financial condition. The administrator has no discretion, but must obtain authority from the Court for his acts, involving unnecessary delay and expense. Sales must be at public outcry to the highest bidder, whereas an executor, with authority to act, can sell at private sale, saving the delay and extra expense, in most cases at better prices.

All the waste of time and extra expense are due to the fact that he who accumulated the estate failed to make a Will, either from ignorance, indifference, or procrastination.

Could you fit a suit to every man in Georgia with cloth cut to one measure? This is what Administrators are obliged to do under the general law.

We will mail you, monthly, a folder explaining what our service is, what it is worth to our clients and how it is appreciated by those for whose benefit it is rendered. Each one will be a profitable study for thoughtful men and women.

Our Trust Officers will gladly discuss this matter with you.

TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND UNDIVIDED PROFITS, $2,850,000

Member Federal Reserve System—Under U. S. Government Supervision

53 NORTH PRYOR STREET, ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Borden's EVAPORATED MILK

Pure milk for cooking

With the cream left in!

EASY TERMS ON CHEVROLETS
Woodward Motor Co. IVY 7838

~If its~

PAINT

Get it from
COOLEGE

Ask for color cards and free Booklet on Paints

F. J. Coolege & Sons, Inc.

Phone IVY 371
12 NORTH FORTY ST.

WE SELL FORD CARS
A. L. BELLE ISLE — IVY 507

There's a new
"BEAU"
in town.
The GIRLS say—this
"BEAU" is delightful—
You fellows had better
"watch your step."

Attorney Who Lost Leg Near Marietta Dies at Golf Club

Washington, April 9.—Augustus S. Worthington, prominent retired attorney, died suddenly today at the Chevy Chase club after he had completed a round of golf on the club links. He was 70 years old. Mr. Worthington served with the Ohio infantry in the Civil war and was wounded in the battle of Kennesaw Mountain, losing a leg as the result. He was for a time secretary to Secretary of War Stanton during the war period.

Loganville Program.
Loganville, Ga., April 9.—(Special.) John B. Wilson, of the University of Georgia, will deliver the memorial address at Loganville on the afternoon of April 26. An interesting program is being arranged for the occasion.

DRINK OR DRUG

POISONING requires ELIMINATION. The New Treatment acts as an ANTIDOTE for these poisons, creates a feeling for food or drugs and overcomes the diseased condition. (See Hygiene used.) Dr. J. H. Conway, 10 years with the "Keely" in charge. Neal Institute, 222 Woodward Ave., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

A CLINKERED FURNACE Does Not Heat

A clinkered furnace will not develop the required amount of heat. A scaly boiler is a glut for coal. Both must be cleaned before they will do their full duty. Just so it is with your body. Your stomach is your heating plant—your steam maker. Congested bowels rob the brain of its needed brain supply, diverted by abused organs straining to eliminate the excess waste beyond their normal capacity. Let your liver become torpid, your bowels clogged, you're half sick, you need something to clean out the accumulated waste. Nature's laxative is found in St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. It is purely vegetable. It is supplied only in powdered form—can be taken dry or as a tea, and will not nauseate or gripe. All dealers guarantee and sell St. Joseph's Liver Regulator—large cans 25c, or you will be supplied postpaid on receipt of price. Clip and mail this advertisement to Geriatric Medicine Co., Memphis, Tenn., for free sample and a copy of the 1922 St. Joseph's Almanac—(adv.)

St. Joseph's Liver Regulator

A Purely Vegetable Laxative

WE SELL FORD CARS
A. L. BELLE ISLE — IVY 507

Our mines are running full time—let us serve you.

Southern Jellico Coal Company
Jellico, Tenn.

~If its~ PAINT Get it from
COOLEGE
Ask for color cards and free Booklet on Paints
F. J. Coolege & Sons, Inc.
Phone Ivy 371
12 NORTH FORSYTH ST.

WE SELL
CHEVROLETS
Woodward Motor Co. Ivy 7838

MB ESTABLISHED
1897

Solid Silver Tea Sets for Wedding Gifts

In considering Tea Sets for Spring Wedding Gifts it will pay you to inspect the splendid assortment we stock.

Large and small sizes are carried in Gorham's popular Plymouth. Then we direct special attention to the Heppelwhite, Fairfax, Georgian, King Albert, Virginia Carvel, Mary Chilton, Sedan, Colonial, Livingston, Early English and other popular designs. Our engraving has been noted for its smoothness and beauty for thirty-five years.

Write for twenty-seventh annual catalogue.

MAIER & BERKELEY
Gold and Silversmiths
311 WHITEHALL STREET

Constitution's Radio Department

TRAIN EXPERIMENT PROVES THEORIES

Differences in Strength of Signals Caused as Car Covers Different Kinds of Terrain.

Several interesting bits of data pertaining to communication with a moving train have been acquired as a result of the recent tests of the Lackawanna railroad. One such test took place in 1914, but owing to the war no others were attempted until last week, the culminating experiment of which was conducted with the Cornell Special, en route from Ithaca to New York.

Several features of the experiment, as pointed out by David W. Richardson, of Princeton university, who, with G. D. Murray, Jr., carried out the tests, were that communication was attempted at all heights and over all kinds of terrain; that the "pointing" of the aerial seemed to have a marked effect on audibility, and that woods and "cuts" interfered with reception, whereas open country and bodies of water intensified it.

In the way of an experiment perhaps the most interesting data gathered were those of the effect of location on signals. Nearly all previous theories seemed to be confirmed, except that of immediate proximity of rock, steel bridges and bodies of earth. Very little difference could be noted whether the railroad ran through steep cut thirty or forty feet deep, or was on the level. Whenever the train went through a thickly wooded piece of land, where the trees were high, all long distance signals faded out entirely. The nearness of a body of water or a stream, even though small, seemed to greatly increase signal strength. The position of the antenna in regard to the station from which they were receiving was another important factor, for, often going around a curve, on a perfectly level plain, would make a set of stations completely fade out and bring in another.

As mentioned before, small contours in the earth's surface, when they were not wooded, seemed to have little effect, but the location of a mountain immediately between the train and stations in a certain locality would cut the signals entirely. This was evident very strongly when they lost 8 BUW while rounding a mountain, but then, again, could hear him step out thirty or forty feet deep, or was on the level. Whenever the train went through a thickly wooded piece of land, where the trees were high, all long distance signals faded out entirely. The nearness of a body of water or a stream, even though small, seemed to greatly increase signal strength. The position of the antenna in regard to the station from which they were receiving was another important factor, for, often going around a curve, on a perfectly level plain, would make a set of stations completely fade out and bring in another.

Archers Along Road
Will Be Dedicated To Slain Soldiers

Macon, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—With only few days work will be begun on the arches for the Road of Remembrance, sponsored by Macon and Georgia women as a memorial to the soldiers of the world war. It is announced by Mrs. O. A. Park, of Macon chairman of the committee in charge.

Arches will be constructed at the spots where the main roads out of Macon cross the Bibb county line. The cross will be formed by the two highways entering Macon, which intersect at Broadway and Cherry streets. At this juncture it is proposed that some suitable monument be erected.

The first step toward planting trees and shrubbery along the roadways was taken recently by the residents of the Howard district of Bibb county, when a long stretch of the Dixie highway was taken care of, an entire day being spent in planting trees, each of which was dedicated to a Bibb county soldier.

Since the successful inauguration of the county memorial plan, Mrs. W. O. Kinney, of Macon, has developed a similar plan upon a much larger scale for the entire state, and is now actively engaged in promoting the development of a Georgia memorial cross to be formed by the two main highways traversing the state and intersecting at Macon, with Bibb county's memorial at the center of the cross.

Meigs Votes Bonds.
Thomasville, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—The election held in Meigs last week for $15,000 bonds to remodel the water and light plant and build transmission lines, carried by three-fourths majority; $10,000 of the bonds will be used for building the transmission lines and the remainder will be for improving the water and light plant.

Solid Silver
Tea Sets for Wedding Gifts

In considering Tea Sets for Spring Wedding Gifts it will pay you to inspect the splendid assortment we stock.

Large and small sizes are carried in Gorham's popular Plymouth. Then we direct special attention to the Heppelwhite, Fairfax, Georgian, King Albert, Virginia Carvel, Mary Chilton, Sedan, Colonial, Livingston, Early English and other popular designs. Our engraving has been noted for its smoothness and beauty for thirty-five years.

Write for twenty-seventh annual catalogue.

MAIER & BERKELEY
Gold and Silversmiths
311 WHITEHALL STREET

To Play for WGM

Photo by Price.

These two talented young ladies will play the piano and violin Monday night at 9 o'clock for The Constitution's radio patrons. On the left is Miss Grace James and at the right in the picture is Miss Inez Marvin. They have appeared at numerous occasions here.

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

BY EDWARD N. DAVIS
Formerly Technical Electrical Expert for United States Government

LESSON NO. 12.

ELECTROMAGNETIC INDUCTION

The property of magnetic induction is a vital factor in the exchange of energy between various parts of the radio circuits. This is illustrated in the radio transmitter, of lesson No. 6, where the voltage in the armature of the alternating current generator is developed by induction. The alternating current from the generator flows through the primary winding of the power transformer and creates an alternating magnetic field, which, by magnetic induction, transfers energy in the form of induced voltage and current to the secondary winding of the power transformer. In the oscillation transformer the rapid oscillations of the magnetic field in the primary winding transfer energy by induction to the secondary winding and thence to the antenna to be radiated in the form of electromagnetic waves.

We know that when a closed coil of wire is rotated in a magnetic field, and the magnetic lines of force inclosed by the coil are increased or decreased, an electromotive force or voltage will be induced and a current will flow in the coil. Upon this principle depends the development of voltage and current of the alternating and direct current generators.

If the coil, instead of rotating, remains stationary, and the magnetic lines of force passed back and forth across the coil so that the magnetic lines of force inclosed by the coil increase or decrease, voltage will be induced in the coil and current will flow. If two coils of wire (A) and (B), as shown in the diagram, are placed in close proximity to each other and current suddenly caused to flow in the turns of coil (A), a magnetic field with expanding lines of force will develop in the coil. The increasing lines of force cut the turns of coil (B) and induce in it an electromotive force, and if the coil (B) forms a closed circuit, a current will flow momentarily. As the current and consequently the magnetic field in coil (A) becomes steady, the current in coil (B) dies away.

If the circuit of coil (A) is suddenly opened, the lines of force in the magnetic field about the coil collapse and in so doing cut the turns of coil (B) and induce in it another momentary current in an opposite direction, however, to that which flowed in the first instance.

It is important to note that the direction of the current induced in coil (B) in both cases is opposite to the direction of the current in coil (A), and that the nature of the induced electromotive force depends upon the rate of change of the magnetic field developed by the current in coil (A).

The magnetic field created by the induced current also opposes the magnetic field of coil (A) when the current is being reduced, and also caused by the reaction between these two circuits is known as mutual induction. The following lesson will explain other important features of electromagnetic induction.

(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution)

rate of change of the magnetic field developed by the current in coil (A). The magnetic field created by the induced current also opposes the magnetic field of coil (A) when the current is being reduced, and also caused by the reaction between these two circuits is known as mutual induction. The following lesson will explain other important features of electromagnetic induction.

(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution)

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Radio Editor: Will you please me know how I am to know the resistance of a pair of receivers, or must I take the maker's word for it?

J. A.
You may generally take the maker's word for it that the receivers are what he says they are. You will find it a hard job to actually test out for the resistance. The best way is to buy standard goods that are made and advertised by some well-known manufacturer.

Radio Editor: I am getting very good results from my present aerial, which is 100 feet long and averages forty-five feet high. I have the opportunity to erect a new aerial 250 to 300 feet long and about eighty feet high. Will it pay me to do this?

J. W.
By increasing the height of the aerial you will increase the static trouble, but you will get better results as a rule. You will hear more distant stations and also more stations than you are hearing at present. The ones that you are hearing at present will come in better.

Radio Editor: I have made a small receiving set and yet I cannot hear a single thing on it. I am enclosing a diagram of the set and also a list of the apparatus used. I did not use a bakelite panel on that set. Will that make any difference? A. J. E.
If you can possibly get a good piece of galena you might be able to hear with a good pair of receivers. The 75-ohm receiver is almost useless for the kind of work you expect to do. High resistance receivers are essential

SMYRNA QUARTET SINGS FROM WGM

Sacred Songs Presented by Four Singing in Revival Services at First Methodist Services.

An unusual program of sacred songs was given to radio amateurs by WGM at 6 o'clock Sunday night when members of the Smyrna Male Quartet gave six numbers. The quartet is in Atlanta for revival services being conducted in the First Methodist church.

Each one a good singer, the members of the quartet were able to sing the sacred numbers with all the sweetness there is in them for such a musical organization.

The quartet is directed by W. N. Nichols, the second tenor of the organization. The other members are W. E. Earwood, first tenor; Frank McMillan, baritone, and Charles McMillan.

The program given by the quartet from WGM was as follows:
1—"Sometimes, Somewhere."
2—"On My Way to Judgment."
3—"The Old Wayside Cross."
4—"Beautiful Land."
5—"Everybody Will Be Happy."
6—"Beautiful Land."

The last three numbers were the best of the six, although all of the songs were excellent. Especially well sung was "Beautiful Land."

The singing of the quartet is being enthusiastically received at the First Methodist church, where it is appearing at all revival services.

THE TRIPLE MOUNTING FOR HONEYCOMB COILS

One Should First See How Assemblies Appear Before Making Mounting.

The set that uses honeycomb coils, must, of necessity, have a mounting of the coils. This mounting should be arranged in such a way that the coils may be varied. At the present time there are several makes of mountings for honeycomb coils, but owing to the cost, a good many beginners prefer to make their own.

It is advisable, first to go to one of the radio stores and look over the triple coil mountings; this will give an idea of how they work and will make it easier to understand what is needed. These honeycomb mountings are rather complicated to make, so a scheme has been devised that will enable the layman to make a mounting of this sort for a very small sum of money.

The first thing that will be necessary will be a pair of 1-4-inch brass rods, about eight inches long. These rods will have to be threaded at one end and a couple of small brass nuts will be needed also for them. These rods will have to be mounted on a small piece of wood or bakelite in the manner shown in the drawing. It will be seen that the rods are without support on one end. This is so that the honeycomb coils to be changed easily and quickly. In buying the honeycombs get what are known as unmounted coils. The mounted ones have a moulded bakelite plug on one side, but this is not necessary with the mounting as suggested in this article. The unmounted coils will have loose ends of wire and these may each be connected to have a short length of flexible wire. It will be well to fasten the other ends to the coils in such a way that only the flexible leads are used. This will prevent breaking the wires where they come out of the coil.

A block of wood will have to be cut to fit the center of each coil, and this with a crystal set. The hook-up and the aerial are all right, and the fact that you have not used bakelite for the panel will not make any difference.

Radio Editor: Will you please give me a hook-up for the inclosed list of apparatus?
D. J. C.
Owing to lack of space we cannot print hook-ups on this page. If you will please write in again inclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope your question will be answered. Please repeat the question in your next letter.

LAGRANGE Y. M. C. A.
INSTALLING OUTFIT

LaGrange, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—A complete radio outfit is being installed in the Southwest LaGrange Y. M. C. A. building. The installation is under the supervision of C. J. Snowden, chief electrician of the Hillside Cotton mills, and he is being assisted by Fuller E. Callaway, Jr., a local radio enthusiast.

The radio telephone receiving set will be placed in the Y. M. C. A. lobby to receive broadcast radio messages and advantage will be taken of entertainment features now being sent daily from Atlanta and from northern and eastern sections.

FITZGERALD THEATER TO HAVE WIRELESS

Fitzgerald, April 9.—(Special.)—The radio bug has reached this city and infected Manager George Ricker, of the local theater, who has contracted for the installation of radio receiving station for his theater. Mr. Ricker states that his station will be of sufficient size to bring to his patrons all the music that's in the air.

Latest and Best RADIO BOOKS
Miller's Book Store
64 N. Broad, Atlanta
Write for Lists

Our mines are running full time—let us serve you.
Southern Jellico Coal Company
Jellico, Tenn.

block will have to be drilled in such a way that it will slide easily on the brass rods. Be sure to have the holes in the wood the same distance apart as the rods are, otherwise the coils will not slide. It may be possible to get an old wooden curtain rod that will exactly fit the centers of the coil. If this is done it will save a lot of time and hard work. When the coils are mounted on the rods be sure that they are all wound in the same direction. If one of the coils happens to "buck" the others, the set will not work. In order to make this easier, ascertain the direction in which the windings go and then make a pen mark on the wooden core denoting which hole goes uppermost. If the cores are made correctly the coils should be changed with only a few seconds' delay, and this method of marking them will save the operator the trouble of studying out which side goes uppermost.

The length of flexible wire leading from the coils may be attached to binding posts at the back of the base-board. These wires may be loosened in a very few seconds' time, and the coils changed with the minimum delay. The under side of the binding posts may be connected into the set in the usual way. Two coils may be used in this way with a crystal detector or three with a vacuum tube. If the two are used with a crystal detector the results will be very similar to a loose coupled, with the advantage that larger sized coils may be used for the longer wave lengths.

Child Sees Father Slay Her Brothers And Sister By Ax

Charlotte, N. C., April 9.—Ruby Lee Helms, 13-year-old girl, horror-stricken and helpless, today saw her father, John Helms, 40, slay three of her little brothers and sister in succession with an axe, and then saw him deliberately blow off the top of his own head with a shotgun, according to the story she, the only witness to the killings told Coroner Frank Hovis.

The quadruple tragedy occurred at the home of Helms, who occupied a tenant house on the farm of Robert Rice, 11 miles east of Charlotte about 6:30 o'clock this morning.

Coroner Hovis said the evidence indicated that Helms had become suddenly insane, probably as a result of continued ill-health, and said Helms seemed deeply depressed when talking with a brother a day or two ago about his hopeless condition.

According to little Ruby Lee Helms, she was walking about in the yard with the 8-month-old baby, Haseline, while her mother prepared for breakfast, when her father approached with an ax and with the handle knocked the baby from her arms; then he went into the house and took them.

He then went out into the yard, where he stood on a stump, reached down and pressed the trigger with his thumb.

Helms and another child, in addition to Ruby Lee, escaped without injury and gave the alarm.

GREAT WIRELESS STATION PLANNED
BY ROME PEOPLE

Rome, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—More definite plans have been given the movement to establish in Rome a radio broadcasting station that will be larger than any yet built in the United States at a meeting of the publicity committee of the Rome Chamber of Commerce, Gordon Hight, radio expert, was present. Mr. Hight consented to give the matter more thorough consideration and will go to Atlanta to consult friends interested in the science and report to another meeting of the committee to be held soon.

Mr. Hight is offering his services free of charge and proposes to build the station at a cost of not more than $10,000, of which he would contribute without such assistance. Members of the committee express confidence in being able to raise the amount necessary to finance the proposition.

WOMEN VOTE BONDS FOR OMEGA SCHOOL

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Omega's third effort to vote school bonds was an overwhelming success. In the election yesterday out of a total registration of 218, the vote for bonds was 137 with only three against. Women took an active part, sixty-eight of the registered voters being female. With cars they hustled out after voters that were slow showing up, and a big picnic dinner was spread at the school building. The issue will be for $15,000, and it is proposed to begin work on a modern brick building as soon as the bonds are sold. In previous elections bonds lost once by 3 and once by 4 votes.

Presbyterians Meet.
Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—The Savannah presbytery will hold its spring session with the Tifton Presbyterian church next week, beginning Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, and remaining in session through Thursday. Morning and afternoon business sessions will be held with preaching at night. All of the preachers and a number of laymen of the Savannah presbytery are expected. Delegates will be entertained in Tifton homes.

Eight Stores in Atlanta 1000 Eight Stores in Atlanta
"Wear-Ever"
2-QUART DOUBLE BOILER
ONLY
$1.98
Regular Price $3.35

Get one of these most useful, most popular utensils EARLY and KNOW why it pays to replace utensils that wear Out with utensils that "WEAR-EVER"

ALL THIS WEEK
A Big Demonstration —of the—
IDEAL
Fireless Cook Stoves

BEFORE we begin this demonstration of fireless cooking, we want you to understand very clearly that it is not to be done in a fireless "cooker." The old-style "cookers" are not at all the same thing as Toledo Fireless Cookstoves. They merely continued the cooking that had already been started; Toledo Fireless Cookstoves do the cooking from start to finish—bake, boil, try, broil and stew.

Come to our Peachtree Street Store—53 Peachtree Street—any time this week and see what it means to you to own an IDEAL COOKER.

King Hardware Co.
145N Moreland 53 PEACHTREE 252 Peters
431 Marietta Any of our stores can supply you 122 Decatur
814 Peachtree 135 Whitehall 34 Gordon

Zinc
—the Backbone of
Pee Gee Mastic Paint

The great covering capacity and long years of service of Pee Gee Mastic Paint are due to its 50% Zinc content, ground in pure Linseed Oil and White Lead, making it a Double Pigment Paint.

Pee Gee Mastic Paint is guaranteed to be absolutely pure and must give entire satisfaction. No better or more economical paint is made at any price.

The cost of using Pee Gee Mastic Paint is small compared with the value and appearance it adds to your property.

For every surface that needs protection against wear and weather use

Pee Gee PAINTS
Varnishes—Stains—Enamels

There's a Pee Gee Paint Product for Every Purpose.

Ask us for FREE Paint Book and Color Card.

Peaslee-Gaulbert Co. of Ga.
228 Marietta St. Phone Ivy 3869

In a Class By Itself

That is what they say of our

Set of Teeth for $10.00

—for people are talking about them, and those who have tried them are sending their friends.

It will pay YOU to see us for this or any other class of dental work—as all of our prices are unusually low.

Dr. E. G. Griffin's
Gate City Dental Rooms
63½ Whitehall St.—Cor. Hunter
Phone M. 1708 Lady Attendant

Mrs. Conklin to Dedicate Y. W. C. A. Swimming Pool

When the Y. W. C. A. camp at Highland, Ga., opens this season on Saturday, May 27, the new swimming pool will give to the girls and young women of Atlanta a recreation for which they have longed since the camp was first opened in the summer of 1917. On the opening day the new swimming pool will be dedicated to the camp chairman, Mrs. Charles A. Conklin, the camp directors and the girls who will be so fortunate as to have registered in advance for the opening week-end. Camp closes September 4.

The swimming pool is 40x90 feet and is from 3 to 8 feet deep. Miss Lucy Marvin Adams, camp director and expert swimmer, will be assisted in teaching the girls to swim by Miss Pauline Martin, who is known to be one of Atlanta's best swimmers. Nick-Jack creek, where the girls have enjoyed swimming during the past five seasons, has not been changed, as the creek is always to be used as a real swimming hole for beginners. As usual, the creek is to afford wading for the girls and the falls of Nick-Jack, popularly known among girls as the "shower bath," is unchanged.

Another camp improvement is a drinking fountain that gives the camp a constant supply of spring water. The water has been chemically analyzed and pronounced pure by one of Atlanta's leading chemists. The Annie Conklin lodge, formerly a barn, has been improved. The lodge is used as living quarters for the camp counselors. The Louise Inman pavilion has been recovered and no more will girls have to move their dining tables from place to place under a leaking roof. The club house that is a two-story farm house has been repainted, both the interior and exterior. There are new curtains and the club reading room has many new books.

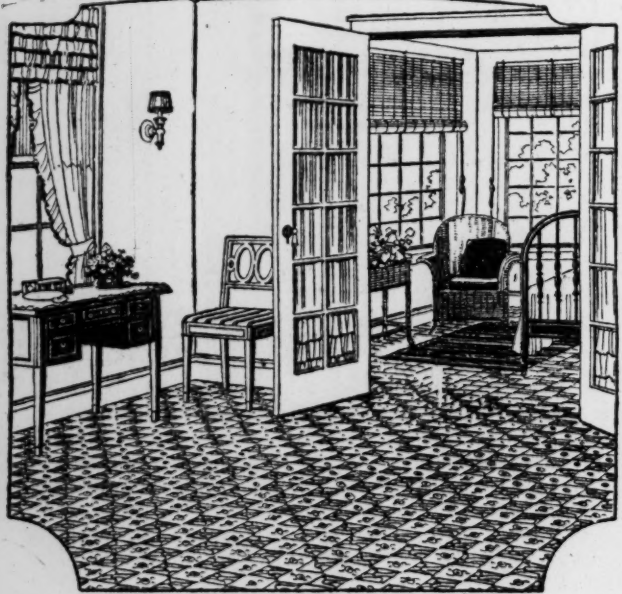

REDUCE Easily, Naturally Be Slender!

Our product, Basy Concentrate, which is the Basy Bread in concentrate form, keeps indefinitely in any climate. Concentrate now on sale in your city by
C. J. KAMPER GROCERY CO.
492 Peachtree St.

For booklet write to DOCTORS' ESSENTIAL FOODS CO.
31 Oakwood Ave.
Orange, New Jersey

Armstrong's Linoleum for Every Floor in the House

The floor of a sleeping-porch is almost as important as the bed

A SLEEPING-PORCH becomes a sleeping-room when it has the kind of floor that a room should have.

Select an appropriate linoleum pattern, and you can give your outdoor sleeping-room a warm, beautiful floor, if you have the linoleum properly put down, with a rug here and there.

Builders' deadening felt should be pasted to the bare boards and the linoleum firmly cemented down on the felt.

Linoleum so laid is not a cold floor. Modern linoleum is made of cork, a non-conductor of heat. Cemented to the felt, it furnishes a smooth, even surface, and is perhaps the most easily cleaned of all floors.

Have you seen a room floored with Armstrong's Linoleum, in the manner we have described? If not, any attempt to imagine its beauty, convenience, or economy will fall short of the real excellence of such a floor.

We have a little booklet, "Decorative Linoleum Floors," containing twenty-four color-plates, showing Jaspés, carpet inlaid, parquetry inlaid, inset marble tiles, printed designs, etc. This booklet will be sent free on request. You can take it to a store and show the merchant exactly what you want to see. Any store will give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum put down in your home. All Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

ARMSTRONG CORK COMPANY, LINOLEUM DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster, Pennsylvania

ATLANTA OFFICE:
1228 Candler Bldg. Phone Ivy 4666

Look for the CIRCLE 'A' trademark on the linoleum back

Margot Asquith Sees America

Woman with the serpent's tongue, frank and fearless as when she wrote diary that rocked England's aristocracy, tells her American impressions—Daring comments on society people—Intimate descriptions of nation's leaders.

From the famous verse by William Watson, the English poet:
"She is not old, she is not young,
The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue."

I have come to the United States for the first time, not to study anything or anybody, but to see my daughters and to enjoy myself. In a rash moment, however, I promised to write my "Impressions of America" and the American People, and this may give rise to false hopes.

Lord Acton wrote in a letter to Mrs. Drew, "One touch of all nature makes the whole world kin;" and I must make an effort not to disappoint my thoughtful critics.

I have been accused of failing to appreciate the society of brilliant American women whether in Italy, Paris or London; but it should be said with truth that brilliance, while stimulating most people, has always exhausted me. I prefer the dimmest thought to the most finished phrase, and am so slow that the mildest complication may make me miss the point.

"General and prolonged laughter" is a taste I have never been able to acquire, and sudden explosions over anything I have said usually convince me that I had better have held my tongue.

To an outsider who has only known European Americans, the most noticeable thing about American women is their freedom from native soil, an

"They are equally well equipped whether their nationality is transferred from Russia to Rome, Vienna, Roumania or Paris. No blank cheque could be more adequately filled in, and I never cease wondering what can be the secret of their perfect social mechanism."

Beautiful to look at and elegantly dressed, with an open mind upon whatever topic is discussed, adaptable, available, rich and good-humored, the American woman, as I know her, is the last word in worldliness and fashion.

In my own country she is not only a popular, but a privileged person, and having started by being what is called natural, she becomes more and more so every day.

The husbands of these ladies, when not of needy foreign aristocracy, are usually divorced, discharged or disposed of in some way or other, and even if they are of the same nationality, are quite unlike the American man as I have known him.

He is seldom fashionable and never leisured; he has a passion for learning all that there is to be known; and holds vigorous views upon most things. If a little copious in narrative, he is never mechanical, but an absolutely genuine article; spon-

Margot Asquith Says:

In the succeeding installments Mrs. Asquith tells of Mrs. Vanderbilt's "bal poudre"—of her visit to President Harding:

"American hostesses are very particular as to precedence; who sits next to whom, or goes in first, second or third."

"I know something about youth as we tenants are a race apart . . . because we have no age. . . . Gypsies and palmists said I would always be young enough to make love and inspire it. . . . My father's last beautiful daughter was born when he was eighty."

IN FUTURE
ARTICLES

"Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, a clever hostess, who thinks nothing of entertaining 150 to lunch, tea and dinner."

"President Harding has a large bold head, with well cut features and an honest, fearless address. . . . He is extraordinarily easy and pleasant to talk to."

"He asked me if I thought there would be a general election. I told him the liberals were the rich, ambitious 'paying guests' in a conservative palace."

"Mr. Harding told me how devoted he was to the French people."

taneous, friendly, hospitable and keen. He appears to treat his women folk with the patience and indulgence you extend to spoiled children, never attempting to discuss matters either literary or political with them, and is agreeably surprised if you show an interest in Wall Street or the white house.

It is difficult to say why so many travelers are uninteresting. I do not think it is because they have not seen wonderful places, but because the average man has not the power to assimilate or interpret what he has seen.

When told at a party that you ought to meet Mr. So-and-So as he has just come back from the Far East, South, West or North Pole, you cling to the nearest door post and make your escape while the hero is being traced in the crowd.

I like what I have thought out for myself better than what I discover, and conclusions arrived at after careful reflection are more enlarging than what is pointed out by inquisitive spectators.

I am not a natural tourist, and Napoleon's shaving soap will never interest me as much as the smallest light upon his mind or character. There is a difference between curiosity and interest, and I regret to say I am not curious.

I am jotting down these preliminary impressions, any one of which may, and probably will, have to be revised during the course of my travels.

I am a bad traveler, had been laid up with a sort of influenza until the day before I left London, and after an abominable voyage, during which the ship rolled and rocked, groaned and shuddered, and the sea did precisely what it liked with us, we arrived a day and a half late. Then, surrounded by press men, I feathered myself on to American soil.

I sometimes wonder what questions I would put if I had to interview travelers. I would never ask them where they were going, or what they had seen, because I know I could not listen to their answers.

Everyone knows what you are likely to see if you go for any length of time to London, Rome, Athens or the United States; and is there a living person whose impressions you would care to hear either upon Niagara or any other of the great works of Nature or of Art?

On such subjects the remarks of the cleverest and stupidest vary but little, and the superb vocabulary of a Ruskin will probably not be more illuminating than what the school boy writes in the visitors' book, "Uncle and all very much pleased."

I sometimes think it is a mild form of vanity that makes a certain type of rich person travel every year. I have heard these say that for all the interest we who are left behind take in what they have seen and heard, they might as well have remained at Brighton.

Nevertheless, the world is full of tourists and there are a number of people of unimportant information without effort. The majority of these read the "Daily Mail," the intelligent "The Manchester Guardian," the liberals "The Westminster Gazette," the intellectuals "The Statesman," and there is something to pass the time on Sundays in the long columns of "The Observer" or to engross the inquisitive in "Secret History of the Week."

After glancing at the foreign entanglements, the city man turns to "round the markets: home railways firm. The Chilean Scrip reacted to 1 1/4 premium and Norway sixes give way to 95."

They turn to "By the Silver Sea, the Sunny South, or Glowing East," ponder over lists of names of those who are going to Egypt, Women of the Riviera and end by learning that the site of the old general postoffice was in St. Martin's-le-Grand.

In America it is rather different. On the front page of one of the most important papers you read: "Kardos has hopes of Father's Aid," "Men Faint in Public and Lose $153,000," "Death Note Writer Caught in Capital," "Losses of Women Duped by Lindsay," "Iceland Cabinet Falls," "Tokio Diet in Uproar Over Snash on Floor," "Saddle Horse from Firestone Harding's Favorite Mount," and short notices on Ireland, Paris and London; you are encouraged to turn to page 8, column 5, and end by "Dazzling Display of Princess Mary's Lingerie."

If the reporters are a little lacking in awe, they make up for this by the intelligent interest they take in everything connected with one, and after being asked what I thought of "Happers" and what Mr. Lloyd George thought of me, I was allowed to go to the Ambassador hotel.

I could not have been greeted with more courtesy had I arrived at Windsor castle, nor have I ever stayed in a better hotel.

Mr. son-in-law, Prince Bibesco, my daughter Elizabeth, and my cousin, Miss Tennant (whose brother is Sir Auckland Geddes' private secretary), showed me the airy bedrooms and beautiful bathrooms which the manager of the hotel had chosen for us.

I sat down completely exhausted when suddenly the door opened and my sitting room was flooded with male and female guests.

Having been sea-sick and without solid food for a week, the carpet and ceiling were still nodding at me, and I regret to confess that I sat and nothing very striking, but they were welcoming and friendly; and after a somewhat dislocated conversation I went off (to be continued in a few days.) (Copyright, 1922 for The Constitution.)

National Officer To Meet Scouts

Mrs. Frederick Edey, of New York city and Palm Beach, Fla., will spend Monday and Tuesday in Atlanta to become acquainted with Atlanta Girl Scouts. Mrs. Edey will be the guest of Mrs. Frank Holland, president of the Atlanta Girl Scout council.

Mrs. Edey is chairman of the national field committee of Girl Scouts, Inc. She is considered a valuable asset to the movement on account of her executive ability and her vital interest in the wholesome development of the girlhood of America.

Atlanta Girl Scouts will meet Mrs. Edey at a reception to be given in her honor at the Atlanta Woman's club Monday afternoon. The troop of Girl Scouts sponsored by the Woman's club will join hostesses with Mrs. B. M. Boykin, president of the club.

The troop has extended an invitation to every Girl Scout in Atlanta to be present from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. Mrs. Boykin has extended the invitation through the press to all members of the Girl Scout council and all troop leaders and committee members.

Mrs. Edey will address a regular meeting of the club Monday afternoon, and will then join the girls in the club gardens. The scouts will repeat their promise and laws and pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Girl Scouts who have given fifty hours or more of service in their homes since March 1 will be given special presentation to Mrs. Edey. They will walk between a guard of honor formed by the other Girl Scouts and will receive blue ribbons awarded by the Atlanta council for home service.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Edey and members of the Atlanta council will inspect a camp site offered Girl Scouts near Stone Mountain by Mrs. J. Charles Metz.

Fudge—Mason.

Mrs. Y. W. Fudge, of Arlington, Ga., announces the marriage of her daughter, Willie, to Frank A. Mason, of Jacksonville, Fla., formerly of Chicago, which took place Sunday, April 2.

Women Voters To Hold Meetings

The Atlanta League of Women Voters will hold a series of meetings during the present week. The following calendar will be observed:

There will be a meeting held with Mrs. Sarah A. Blake, 408 South Moreland avenue, Friday, April 14, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Roy Brittain will speak in the interest of the charter campaign.

A meeting of the North Boulevard Park Civic League, Monday, April 10, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. R. L. Turman will be the speaker.

All members of the board, especially the ward chairmen of the League of Women Voters, are urged to be present at the regular board meeting Tuesday, April 11, at 10 o'clock, at league headquarters, 301 Wesley Memorial church building.

An intensive charter campaign is being conducted by the league.

Echoes of Recent D. A. R. Convention Held in Valdosta

Mrs. C. B. Hawk, of Valdosta, prominent D. A. R. and club woman, writes the following interesting detail concerning the recent state meeting in Valdosta of the D. A. R., when Mrs. Howard McCall, of Atlanta, was nominated for national officer, and the next state convention won for Atlanta as a tribute to Mrs. W. L. Peel, founder of the hostess chapter:

"When the name of Mrs. Howard McCall, Atlanta, was placed in nomination as Georgia's candidate for vice president general, national society, Daughters of American Revolution, the entire membership of the convention rose to its feet spontaneously as a tribute to this distinguished Georgian woman."

"Seconds to the nomination came from every section of the state and delegates clamored for recognition until finally it was suggested that in seconding the nomination the entire convention again rise, which was followed by another demonstration."

"Following this state officers were elected as follows:

"State regent Mrs. Charles Ackerman, Macon; first vice state regent, Mrs. Julius Chalmers, Atlanta; second vice state regent, Mrs. Paul B. Trammell, Dalton; recording secretary, Mrs. E. A. Wilkins, Eastman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. N. Talley, Macon; state treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Wood, Valdosta; state auditor, Mrs. Tibbitt Coney, Savannah; state librarian, Mrs. Herbert M. Franklin, Tennille; state historian, Mrs. J. R. Peacock, Dublin; consulting registrar, Miss Martha Edmondson, Eatonton; state editor, Mrs. John D. Pope, Albany; assistant state editor, Mrs. W. C. Clark, Covington; state chaplain, Mrs. T. J. Durrett, Cordele.

"Among the resolutions adopted during the day were the following: To change the time of state conference so it will not interfere with Lent and Holy week; to move the body of General John Clark, former governor of Georgia, from St. Andrews bay to the National cemetery at Marietta; that no meeting of the state or local chapters should be held without asking Divine guidance; approving good pictures at theaters and pledging united support to such make a specialty of showing such; endorsing Crawford Long for a place in the Hall of Fame and asking the Georgia legislature to take appropriate action in this regard, pledging sympathy and support to the state memorial memorial; providing for a wreath of poppies for graves of world war veterans on Armistice day."

"A message of sympathy for Clark Howell on the recent death of Mrs. Howell was ordered forwarded on motion of Mrs. Walter D. Lunsford, of Macon. At noon the convention was entertained at luncheon by the local U. D. C. chapter, the luncheon being served in the dining hall of the South Georgia State Normal college, this being one of the most brilliant of the social affairs."

"Mrs. T. J. McKey, president of the Valdosta chapter of the U. D. C. was in charge of the luncheon, while Mrs. L. G. Youmans acted as toastmistress."

"Atlanta Wins Convention. Atlanta and Savannah presented invitations for the next convention. An especially strong appeal was made for Atlanta by Mrs. W. L. Peel, and as a mark of respect to this brilliant Georgian woman Savannah withdrew its invitation."

"The convention closed during the afternoon and early in the evening the delegates were guests of the faculty of the South Georgia State Normal college in company with the entire student body at a reception. In the evening the delegates were tendered a reception by the Wymondia club at the home of the president, Mrs. Albert J. Strickland. This proved to be a most brilliant and colorful close of the social affairs attending the convention."

on and every ward will be urged to stress the small district meetings explaining the charter and asking the women to register."

Miss Louise Bentley, chairman of the fifth ward, reports that the workers in her ward have never slackened up in their efforts at meetings, which she regards as very essential.

A mass meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held in the auditorium of the Wesley Memorial church Tuesday, April 11, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Watkins and Mr. Luther will be the speakers.

The regular quarterly meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock, at which time the present statutes of the charter will be given and reports from wards heard. All members are urged to attend and bring friends.

PUT ONE ON EVERY DESK

"Mind your speech.
Lost it near your fortune."
Good advice from Shakespeare

YOU CAN AFFORD TO DO SO, NOW YOU GET THEM AT THE MERE COST OF HANDLING—DISTRIBUTED EXCLUSIVELY TO READERS OF THE

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

The New Universities Dictionary

Should be on the desk of every stenographer and within reach of every clerk. Get yours today.

'Demand has been tremendous. The people like the book—your neighbors are taking it in great quantities. And no wonder—it is the

Best Dictionary Ever Published

Price Considered

ALL BRAND NEW

22 DICTIONARIES IN ONE

Thousands of new words never before in ANY dictionary.

Illustrated in color and duotone.

A Luxurious Book

Take One Home Today—
Money Back if Not Satisfied.

BOUND IN BLACK SEAL GRAIN	Publisher's	Yours for Only	Mail Orders
Red Edges; New Type; Special Paper; Strong and Durable; Easy on the Eyes—a Luxurious Book.	Price	Three Coupons	Filled. See
	$4.00	and	Coupon

Coupon Appears Daily

Clip Coupon Today, Page 2

TRAVELING? You can get the utmost good from your trip only if you are in fit physical condition. Before leaving, do this: first thing in the morning, take Pluto Water. It will clear the system in thirty minutes to two hours, without griping. You will feel better and be better for it. And your trip will be a greater success. Pluto is bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana. Your physician prescribes it.

A clean body makes a clear mind

PLUTO
WATER America's Physic

When nature won't, PLUTO will

Telephone wires will tingle with sweet harmony when your sweetheart thanks you for her Easter My.

JOY'S

TWO STORES

8 Peachtree St., Arcade Corner

Phone Ivy 4422

548 Peachtree St.
Opposite Georgian Terrace
Phone Hemlock 4214

YOUR MONEY will get results in Picture Framing
Georgia Art Supply Co.
Manufacturers, Jobbers, Retailers
At 65 South Broad St.

The Constitution's Novel-a-Week Once to Every Man

BY LARRY EVANS
Next Week, "The Seventh Man," by Max Brand.

(Continued From Yesterday.)

She shrank back, as if all the strength had been drained from her knees, as he lurched unsteadily across toward her and reached out his arms. But at the touch of his hands upon her shoulders she shuddered and whirled—and shook off his groping fingers.

"Don't you touch me!" she panted huskily. "Oh, you—you don't you even dare to come near me!"

He tried to explain—tried to follow her with flight as she leaped back, but his feet became entangled in the cloak on the floor and brought him heavily to his knees. He even tried to follow her after she had been swallowed up in the shadows outside, until he realized that his shuffling feet would not go where his whirling head directed them. Once he called out to her, before he staggered to the kitchen door, and received no answer.

CHAPTER IV.

Once more Young Denny stood before the square patch of mirror with the lamp lifted high in one hand. All trace of resentment of Dryad left his eyes as he realized the ghastly pallor of those features—all the ragged horror of that oozing welt which he had only half seen in that first moment when he was clinging to consciousness with clenched teeth.

"Why, she couldn't have known," he said aloud. "She couldn't have been expected to believe anything else—I'm not much to look at—just now."

In the fullness of the new certainty of self that was setting his pulses hammering, he even turned toward the sleeping town in a sudden boyish burst of generosity.

"Maybe they didn't mean to lie, either," he mused thoughtfully. "Maybe they hadn't really meant to lie—all this time. They would have been mistaken, just as she was to-night—they certainly could have been that."

He found and filled a basin with cold water and washed out the cut until the bleeding stopped entirely. And then, with the paper which that afternoon's mail had brought spread out on the table before him, he sat until daybreak poring over it. As the first light came streaking in he nodded his head in deliberate, definite finality.

"Why, it's the thing I've been waiting for," he stated, something close to wonder in his voice. "It's just a man-size chance. I'd have to take it—I'd have to do that, even if I didn't want to—for myself."

And later, while he was kindling a fire in the stove and methodically preparing his own breakfast, he paused to add with what seemed to be absolute irrelevance:

"Silk—silk, next to her skin!"

There were only two trains a day over the single-track spur road that connected Boltonwood with the outer world beyond the hills; one which left at a most unreasonably inconvenient hour in the early morning and one which left just as inconveniently late at night. Denny Bolton settled upon the first as the entirely probable choice of the short, fat, brown-clad newspaper man. And the sight of the round bulk of the latter, huddled upon a baggage truck before the deserted Boltonwood station-shed, fully vindicated his judgment. The man on the truck started to his feet and stared questioningly at the big figure whose fingers had plucked tentatively at his elbow, until a sudden, delighted recognition flooded his face.

"Why, greetings—greetings!" he exclaimed. "Didn't quite recognize you with your—er—decoration. Glad of a chance to speak to you! I wanted most mightily to ask you a few pertinent questions last night, but it hardly seemed a fitting occasion."

He tapped Young Denny's arm with a stubby forefinger, one eyelid drooping quizzically. "Entre nous—just twist thee and me, and not for publication, was this Jeddie Conway, as you knew him, all that your eminent citizenry would lead a poor gullible stranger to believe, or was he just a small-sized edition of the full-blown crook he happened to be at the present stage of developments? Not that it makes any difference here," he tapped the big notebook under his arm, "but I'm just curious, a little, because the Jed the Red whom I happen to know is so crooked nowadays that his own manager is afraid to place a bet on him half the time."

Denny smiled comprehendingly. "I see," he agreed. "Well, when he left town about eight years ago, his going was just a trifle hasty. He—he took about everything there was in the cash-drawer of Benson's store with him—except maybe a lead slug or two—and there's some who think he only overlooked them."

"Just about as your servant had it figured out last night," the other chirped. "Judging from the sentiments that were expressed after you left last night, you—er—don't run very strong with this community, either."

"I reckon," Denny drawled, "that I'll have to confess that I've never been what you might call a general favorite."

The newspaper man's head lifted a little. It was far from being the sort of an answer that he had expected. "No," he murmured gently, "you don't stand much high with this community. I guess you've—er—disappointed them too long, haven't you?"

The blood surged up under Young Denny's dark skin and the fat man hastened to throw a touch of jocularity into the statement. "Yep, you've disappointed 'em sorely. But I've been monopolizing 'em conversation. I can't convince myself that you've come down here merely to say me a touching farewell. Was there—

"You have your hat, coat and umbrella—

"Yes, but I feel as if I've forgotten something—waiter—

"It's a terrible feeling—

"Yes, did you ever feel that way?

"You bet, once when I forgot to give a waiter a tip."

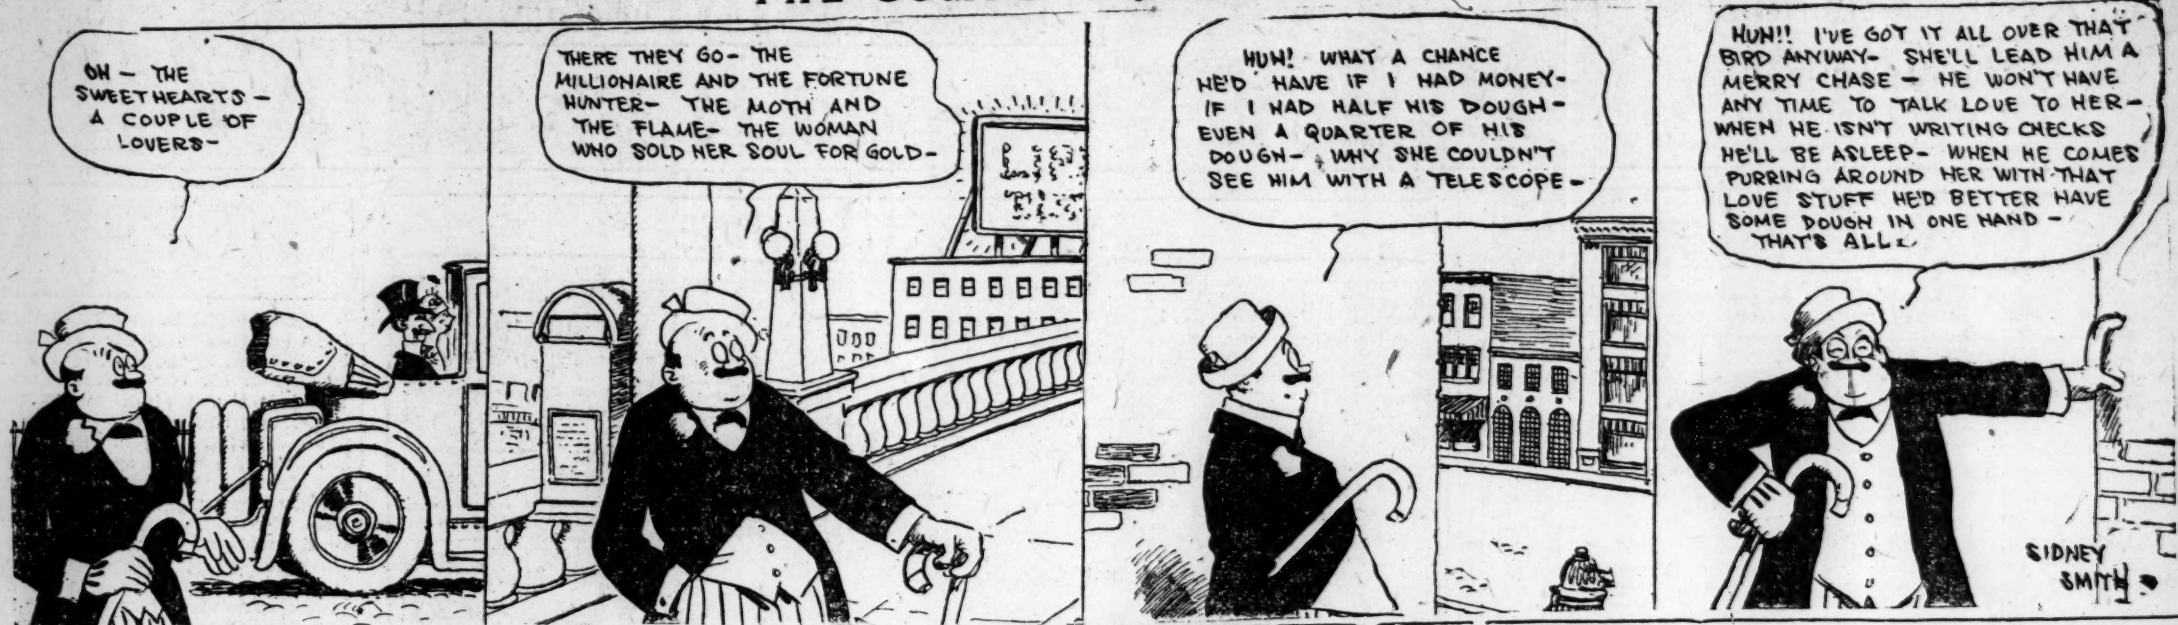

"Yes, I feel as if I've forgotten something—waiter—

"It's a terrible feeling—

"Yes, did you ever feel that way?

"You bet, once when I forgot to give a waiter a tip."

THE GUMPS—CARLOS

was there something you wanted to see me about in particular?"

It was the very opening for which Denny had been waiting. "I thought maybe you could tell me if this was true or not," he said, as he drew from his pocket the paper which bore the account of Jed the Red's victory over the Texan. Denny's finger indicated the last paragraph of all. "The winner's share of the receipts amounted to twelve thousand dollars," was its succinct burden.

"I certainly can," the other admitted. "I wrote it myself, but it's no doubt true, for all that. Not a very big purse, of course, but then, you know, he isn't really championship caliber. He's just a second-rate hopeful, really. It seems hard to find a real one these days. But why the riddle?"

"Why, I thought if it was true maybe I'd ask you to tell me if I—how I could get a chance at him."

The newspaper man laid his notebook upon the truck with exaggerated care and rose and faced him.

"Another?" he lamented in simulated despair. But the next moment all the bantering light went from his face, while his eyes flashed in lightning-like appraisal over Denny's lean, small and narrow in spite of the clumsy high boots, to his clean-cut head, and back again. He felt in a pocket for a card and scribbled an address across its back.

"If you ever did chance to get as far from home as that, address would fall on your neck and weep real tears if you happened to have the stuff," he said.

He gazed for another second at the boy's thin, grave face, so like, in its very thinness and gravity, all that a composite of its Puritan forbears might have been. And as he became suddenly conscious of that resemblance he reversed the card, a whimsical twist touching his lips, and wrote above his own name, "introducing the Pilgrim," and put it in the outstretched hand.

"Any idea when you expect to make a start?" he inquired.

"Tomorrow, I reckon. I'll take me all of today to get things fixed up so I can leave. I'll take this train in the morning."

"Surely—surely," the chubby man agreed. "Nothing like getting away with the bell. And—er—there's one other thing. I do confess to a lot of curiosity concerning that small souvenir. His eyes traveled to the boy's chin. "May I inquire just how it happened?"

"Last night," Denny explained. "I—I kind of forgot myself and walked in on the horse in the dark, without speaking to them. I'd forgot to feed them before I went to the village. One of them's young yet—and nervous—and—"

The other scowled comprehendingly. "And so, just for that, they both went hungry till you came to in the morning and found yourself stretched out on the floor, eh?"

Young Denny puzzled a moment over the words, No-o-o," he contradicted slowly. "No, it wasn't as bad as that. Knocked me across the floor and into the wall and made me pretty dizzy and faint for a little while. But I managed to feed them—I—I'd worked them pretty hard in the timber last week."

The man in brown puckered his lips sympathetically, whistling softly while he considered the damage which that flying hoof had done, and the utter simplicity of the explanation.

"I wonder," he said to himself, "I wonder—I wonder!" And then, almost roughly: give me back that card!"

Young Denny's eyes widened with surprise, but he complied without a word. The man in brown wrote hastily under the scribbled address, cocked his head while he read it through, and handed it back again. The belated train was whistling for the station crossing when he thrust out his pudgy white hand in farewell.

"My name's Morehouse," he said. "I have a premonition that we are to meet again. And don't lose that card!"

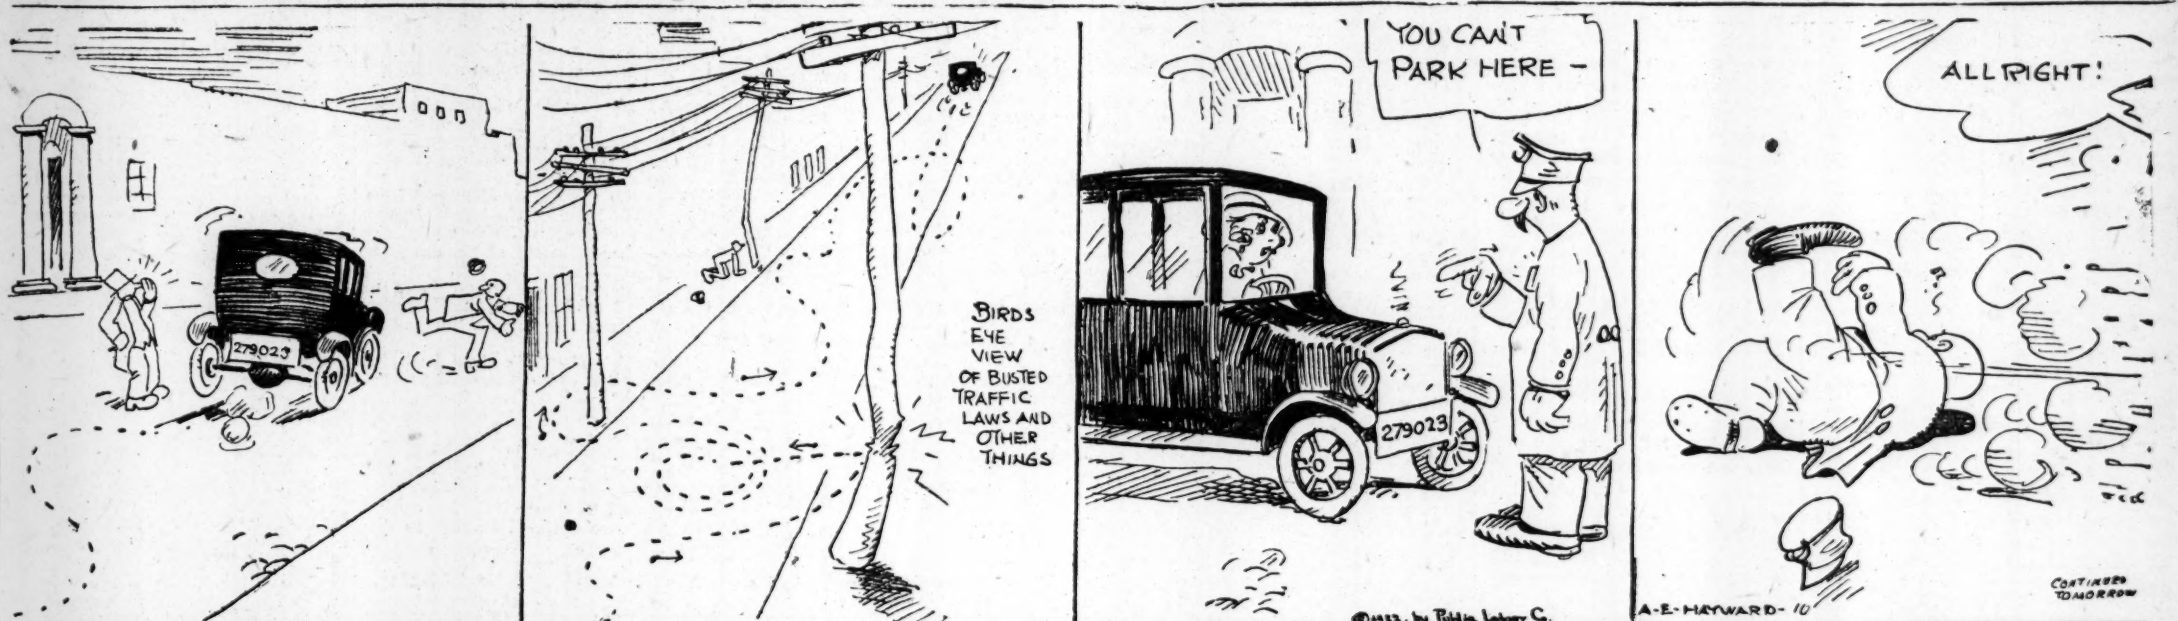

Long after the train had crawled out of sight the boy stood there reading over and over again the few scrawled words that underdared the line of address.

"Some of them may have science," it read, "and some of them may have speed, but, after all, it's the man that can take punishment who gets the final decision. Call me up if this ever comes to hand."

Young Denny Bolton was totally oblivious, or at least apparently so, to the very audible hum of astonishment which rippled along behind them when he and Judge Maynard whirled down the main street of the village, he being morning to stop with a great flourish before the postoffice doors. It was "mail time"—a certain instant when Old Jerry's passage from the office doors to his dilapidated rig at the edge of the boardwalk heralded the opening of the general delivery window within. It was Old Jerry's hour—the one hour of the day in which his starved appetite, for notoriety ever supplied of nourishment—that moment when the small knot of loiterers upon the sidewalk, composed of the same personnel as the unvarying nightly circle about the tavern stove, gave way before him and the authority of the "gov'mint" which he personified. Since that first morning, years back, which had hailed his initial appearance with the mail bags slung over one thin shoulder, he had made the most of that daily entrance upon the stage of publicity. There was always a palpable rebuke to their purposeless unemployment.

Just once this haughty reserve had been assailed. It happened when Old Dave Shepard had stepped forward

SOMEBODY'S STENOG—She's Learning to Drive Her New Car

minuted despair. But the next moment all the bantering light went from his face, while his eyes flashed in lightning-like appraisal over Denny's lean, small and narrow in spite of the clumsy high boots, to his clean-cut head, and back again. He felt in a pocket for a card and scribbled an address across its back.

"If you ever did chance to get as far from home as that, address would fall on your neck and weep real tears if you happened to have the stuff," he said.

He gazed for another second at the boy's thin, grave face, so like, in its very thinness and gravity, all that a composite of its Puritan forbears might have been. And as he became suddenly conscious of that resemblance he reversed the card, a whimsical twist touching his lips, and wrote above his own name, "introducing the Pilgrim," and put it in the outstretched hand.

"Any idea when you expect to make a start?" he inquired.

"Tomorrow, I reckon. I'll take me all of today to get things fixed up so I can leave. I'll take this train in the morning."

"Surely—surely," the chubby man agreed. "Nothing like getting away with the bell. And—er—there's one other thing. I do confess to a lot of curiosity concerning that small souvenir. His eyes traveled to the boy's chin. "May I inquire just how it happened?"

"Last night," Denny explained. "I—I kind of forgot myself and walked in on the horse in the dark, without speaking to them. I'd forgot to feed them before I went to the village. One of them's young yet—and nervous—and—"

The other scowled comprehendingly. "And so, just for that, they both went hungry till you came to in the morning and found yourself stretched out on the floor, eh?"

Young Denny puzzled a moment over the words, No-o-o," he contradicted slowly. "No, it wasn't as bad as that. Knocked me across the floor and into the wall and made me pretty dizzy and faint for a little while. But I managed to feed them—I—I'd worked them pretty hard in the timber last week."

The man in brown puckered his lips sympathetically, whistling softly while he considered the damage which that flying hoof had done, and the utter simplicity of the explanation.

"I wonder," he said to himself, "I wonder—I wonder!" And then, almost roughly: give me back that card!"

Young Denny's eyes widened with surprise, but he complied without a word. The man in brown wrote hastily under the scribbled address, cocked his head while he read it through, and handed it back again. The belated train was whistling for the station crossing when he thrust out his pudgy white hand in farewell.

"My name's Morehouse," he said. "I have a premonition that we are to meet again. And don't lose that card!"

Long after the train had crawled out of sight the boy stood there reading over and over again the few scrawled words that underdared the line of address.

"Some of them may have science," it read, "and some of them may have speed, but, after all, it's the man that can take punishment who gets the final decision. Call me up if this ever comes to hand."

Young Denny Bolton was totally oblivious, or at least apparently so, to the very audible hum of astonishment which rippled along behind them when he and Judge Maynard whirled down the main street of the village, he being morning to stop with a great flourish before the postoffice doors. It was "mail time"—a certain instant when Old Jerry's passage from the office doors to his dilapidated rig at the edge of the boardwalk heralded the opening of the general delivery window within. It was Old Jerry's hour—the one hour of the day in which his starved appetite, for notoriety ever supplied of nourishment—that moment when the small knot of loiterers upon the sidewalk, composed of the same personnel as the unvarying nightly circle about the tavern stove, gave way before him and the authority of the "gov'mint" which he personified. Since that first morning, years back, which had hailed his initial appearance with the mail bags slung over one thin shoulder, he had made the most of that daily entrance upon the stage of publicity. There was always a palpable rebuke to their purposeless unemployment.

Just once this haughty reserve had been assailed. It happened when Old Dave Shepard had stepped forward

fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the momentarily barred. Old Jerry thrust his way forward and planted himself for a second time squarely in the great man's path. And in his high, cracked falsetto he exclaimed: "Now see here, judge; what's the meanin' of all this? You ain't turned kidnapper, hev you?"

There came a heavy hush, while the judge stood and stared down at the

Young Denny's arid, rocky acres, and the rate of interest which he felt compelled to demand, his brain was racing far ahead of the matter in hand. It was the judge himself who engineered the half hour's delay which resulted in the fullest possible audience for their appearance that morning.

Old Jerry was in the doorway, ready for his straight-backed descent of the worn steps, when Judge Maynard pulled his smooth gaited pair to a restive standstill before the office and saved the reins into Young Denny's keeping. The throng of old men upon the sidewalk was at the point of opening ranks to allow the "gov'mint official" to pass through to his tattered buggy. Like two receding waves the tight ranks opened before the judge, clearing a path for his heavy-footed advance to the postoffice doors. Old Jerry stood in the middle of the entrance, too dazed to grasp the situation, until he, too, was swept aside, without so much as a glance or a word, by the one majestic sweep of the judge's hand. No one noticed the old man's faltering descent of the steps, or saw that he passed in his slow way to the buggy to turn back and stand looking about him in a kind of bewildered desperation. For the gaze of all had swung from the judge's broad, disappearing back to the boy who was sitting in the backboard, smiling to himself. He even chuckled aloud once—Young Denny did. And fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the

momentarily barred. Old Jerry thrust his way forward and planted himself for a second time squarely in the great man's path. And in his high, cracked falsetto he exclaimed: "Now see here, judge; what's the meanin' of all this? You ain't turned kidnapper, hev you?"

There came a heavy hush, while the judge stood and stared down at the

Young Denny's arid, rocky acres, and the rate of interest which he felt compelled to demand, his brain was racing far ahead of the matter in hand. It was the judge himself who engineered the half hour's delay which resulted in the fullest possible audience for their appearance that morning.

Old Jerry was in the doorway, ready for his straight-backed descent of the worn steps, when Judge Maynard pulled his smooth gaited pair to a restive standstill before the office and saved the reins into Young Denny's keeping. The throng of old men upon the sidewalk was at the point of opening ranks to allow the "gov'mint official" to pass through to his tattered buggy. Like two receding waves the tight ranks opened before the judge, clearing a path for his heavy-footed advance to the postoffice doors. Old Jerry stood in the middle of the entrance, too dazed to grasp the situation, until he, too, was swept aside, without so much as a glance or a word, by the one majestic sweep of the judge's hand. No one noticed the old man's faltering descent of the steps, or saw that he passed in his slow way to the buggy to turn back and stand looking about him in a kind of bewildered desperation. For the gaze of all had swung from the judge's broad, disappearing back to the boy who was sitting in the backboard, smiling to himself. He even chuckled aloud once—Young Denny did. And fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the

momentarily barred. Old Jerry thrust his way forward and planted himself for a second time squarely in the great man's path. And in his high, cracked falsetto he exclaimed: "Now see here, judge; what's the meanin' of all this? You ain't turned kidnapper, hev you?"

There came a heavy hush, while the judge stood and stared down at the

Young Denny's arid, rocky acres, and the rate of interest which he felt compelled to demand, his brain was racing far ahead of the matter in hand. It was the judge himself who engineered the half hour's delay which resulted in the fullest possible audience for their appearance that morning.

Old Jerry was in the doorway, ready for his straight-backed descent of the worn steps, when Judge Maynard pulled his smooth gaited pair to a restive standstill before the office and saved the reins into Young Denny's keeping. The throng of old men upon the sidewalk was at the point of opening ranks to allow the "gov'mint official" to pass through to his tattered buggy. Like two receding waves the tight ranks opened before the judge, clearing a path for his heavy-footed advance to the postoffice doors. Old Jerry stood in the middle of the entrance, too dazed to grasp the situation, until he, too, was swept aside, without so much as a glance or a word, by the one majestic sweep of the judge's hand. No one noticed the old man's faltering descent of the steps, or saw that he passed in his slow way to the buggy to turn back and stand looking about him in a kind of bewildered desperation. For the gaze of all had swung from the judge's broad, disappearing back to the boy who was sitting in the backboard, smiling to himself. He even chuckled aloud once—Young Denny did. And fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the

momentarily barred. Old Jerry thrust his way forward and planted himself for a second time squarely in the great man's path. And in his high, cracked falsetto he exclaimed: "Now see here, judge; what's the meanin' of all this? You ain't turned kidnapper, hev you?"

There came a heavy hush, while the judge stood and stared down at the

Young Denny's arid, rocky acres, and the rate of interest which he felt compelled to demand, his brain was racing far ahead of the matter in hand. It was the judge himself who engineered the half hour's delay which resulted in the fullest possible audience for their appearance that morning.

Old Jerry was in the doorway, ready for his straight-backed descent of the worn steps, when Judge Maynard pulled his smooth gaited pair to a restive standstill before the office and saved the reins into Young Denny's keeping. The throng of old men upon the sidewalk was at the point of opening ranks to allow the "gov'mint official" to pass through to his tattered buggy. Like two receding waves the tight ranks opened before the judge, clearing a path for his heavy-footed advance to the postoffice doors. Old Jerry stood in the middle of the entrance, too dazed to grasp the situation, until he, too, was swept aside, without so much as a glance or a word, by the one majestic sweep of the judge's hand. No one noticed the old man's faltering descent of the steps, or saw that he passed in his slow way to the buggy to turn back and stand looking about him in a kind of bewildered desperation. For the gaze of all had swung from the judge's broad, disappearing back to the boy who was sitting in the backboard, smiling to himself. He even chuckled aloud once—Young Denny did. And fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the

momentarily barred. Old Jerry thrust his way forward and planted himself for a second time squarely in the great man's path. And in his high, cracked falsetto he exclaimed: "Now see here, judge; what's the meanin' of all this? You ain't turned kidnapper, hev you?"

There came a heavy hush, while the judge stood and stared down at the

Young Denny's arid, rocky acres, and the rate of interest which he felt compelled to demand, his brain was racing far ahead of the matter in hand. It was the judge himself who engineered the half hour's delay which resulted in the fullest possible audience for their appearance that morning.

Old Jerry was in the doorway, ready for his straight-backed descent of the worn steps, when Judge Maynard pulled his smooth gaited pair to a restive standstill before the office and saved the reins into Young Denny's keeping. The throng of old men upon the sidewalk was at the point of opening ranks to allow the "gov'mint official" to pass through to his tattered buggy. Like two receding waves the tight ranks opened before the judge, clearing a path for his heavy-footed advance to the postoffice doors. Old Jerry stood in the middle of the entrance, too dazed to grasp the situation, until he, too, was swept aside, without so much as a glance or a word, by the one majestic sweep of the judge's hand. No one noticed the old man's faltering descent of the steps, or saw that he passed in his slow way to the buggy to turn back and stand looking about him in a kind of bewildered desperation. For the gaze of all had swung from the judge's broad, disappearing back to the boy who was sitting in the backboard, smiling to himself. He even chuckled aloud once—Young Denny did. And fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the

momentarily barred. Old Jerry thrust his way forward and planted himself for a second time squarely in the great man's path. And in his high, cracked falsetto he exclaimed: "Now see here, judge; what's the meanin' of all this? You ain't turned kidnapper, hev you?"

There came a heavy hush, while the judge stood and stared down at the

Young Denny's arid, rocky acres, and the rate of interest which he felt compelled to demand, his brain was racing far ahead of the matter in hand. It was the judge himself who engineered the half hour's delay which resulted in the fullest possible audience for their appearance that morning.

Old Jerry was in the doorway, ready for his straight-backed descent of the worn steps, when Judge Maynard pulled his smooth gaited pair to a restive standstill before the office and saved the reins into Young Denny's keeping. The throng of old men upon the sidewalk was at the point of opening ranks to allow the "gov'mint official" to pass through to his tattered buggy. Like two receding waves the tight ranks opened before the judge, clearing a path for his heavy-footed advance to the postoffice doors. Old Jerry stood in the middle of the entrance, too dazed to grasp the situation, until he, too, was swept aside, without so much as a glance or a word, by the one majestic sweep of the judge's hand. No one noticed the old man's faltering descent of the steps, or saw that he passed in his slow way to the buggy to turn back and stand looking about him in a kind of bewildered desperation. For the gaze of all had swung from the judge's broad, disappearing back to the boy who was sitting in the backboard, smiling to himself. He even chuckled aloud once—Young Denny did. And fastened the detainer with a stare of such baleful resentment that the latter drew off in piteous haste for self-effacement. And Jerry's words on that one occasion were still current history.

"I warn you, Mister Shepard," he had shrilled "that it's a state's prison offense to interfere with a gov'mint official in the performance of his duty—and if you've got any complaints to make they'll have to be set down regular in writin', so's I can give 'em due consideration!"

Dating from that day Old Jerry's daily appearance had taken on, at least in the eyes of the tavern regulars, a ceremonious importance that demanded their personal attendance.

From the moment when he had himself answered the summons at the front door of his great, boxlike house on the hill, and found Young Denny standing there, Judge Maynard had sensed a sensation. With unerring judgment he recognized the very carriage of the big-shouldered boy before him, who for the first time in his life failed to uncover his head, with a due amount of reverence, in the presence of the town's great man, while he stated his errand.

The judge was a first mortgage financier, and he scanned each new addition to his already extensive collection, with elaborate care. But he even forgot to clear his throat judicially when he asked the boy before him if he had considered sufficiently the

JUST NUTS

I'll go after that job—worked on a farm all my life!

RUBBISH! WANTED! APPLY INSIDE!

Crackers Clout Way to Win Over Montgomery City Leaguers

Atlanta Batters Land on Montgomery Pitchers and Win, 14 to 4—Workouts at Poncey Today.

Montgomery, Ala., April 9.—(Special.)—Atlanta Crackers here this afternoon had little trouble in defeating Montgomery all-star team, 14 to 4, the contest being a hitting affair, a total of 20 hits being made. The Crackers annexed six home runs during the battle, two being registered by Carley and the others by Riden, Mayer, Napier and Bernsen. The local amateurs also broke into the home run class when Carley and Oliver sent the ball out of the lot for circuit hits. Napier had a fast ball, but the locals hit it hard, and several times the Atlanta pitcher was saved from base hits or scores by clever fielding.

Suggs Allows Two Hits.
Suggs, who relieved Napier, allowed the locals two hits without a run. The Montgomery team made several changes in the line-up, but were unable to overcome the lead taken by the Crackers in the fourth inning when the club scored eight runs, three home runs being made in this inning.

Manager Roy Ellam was highly impressed with the work of Tom Oliver, a local outfielder, and several three-hits, one a home run. After the game Ellam had a talk with Oliver and he was offered a contract, but refused to sign until he could talk the situation over with his parents. Ellam stated Oliver was the most promising youngster he had seen in many years, and predicted a great future for him. Oliver is 19 years old, just finished prep school, and with a year in organized baseball, will make a valuable outfielder.

It is estimated that 2,000 persons witnessed the game, it being the first

Fullerton's Dope on National League Places Cards in Lead

Giants 100 Points Weaker Than the Leading Cards. Giants Have Advantages and Play Will Tell.

BY HUGH FULLERTON.

Here is one of those remarkable freaks of hope that make it so interesting. One sheer team strength, the St. Louis Cardinals, lead the league. True, their figures are only a hundred points more than the New York Giants, and the Giants are only eight points weaker on the paper than the Pirates.

But there are two important points in the dope which must be remembered. First, that the New York Giants are the richest club in the league, and they can buy anything they are able to purchase new material to strengthen the team. Second, that when one club can beat another, even when that other has more playing strength.

The fact that St. Louis has a slight figure advantage means little until we see how that strength will work out when applied to the series against New York and Pittsburgh. Last season, during the early portion, Pittsburgh was far stronger than the Giants—yet the Giants licked them in their series. During the last half of the season St. Louis was stronger and played better than any other team—yet the Giants broke even on the series with the Cards.

GIANTS AND PIRATES WELL HANDLED.

There is another big problem in the dope—and one which cannot be shown in figures. That is management. The St. Louis team is poorly managed, badly handled, and both the Giants and the Pirates are well handled. Regardless of what any one may think of McGraw, he is effective and he gets effective results out of the material at his command. Rickey, perhaps, gets less out of players than almost any other manager. If I were to rely upon such conditions rather than upon the straight figures, I would place the Cards at least second, perhaps third, in the league, and give the preference to New York. However, I know of no way of figuring the effect of inefficient management, and must rely upon the playing strengths of teams against other teams.

We find the National pretty well classified. St. Louis, New York and Pittsburgh in the first flight and close

Best and Biggest

John Ruskins are getting the 10c and 2 for 25c smokers because they are the Best and Biggest cigar at 2 for 15c.

They please you better and save you money. Hand made, free and even burning, delightfully mild.

Buy a couple of John Ruskins today—tomorrow you'll buy more.

Stay with John Ruskins and save the coupon backs of your valuable premiums. 8 cents each. I. L. Clear Mfg. Co., Newark, N. J., Makers.

J. N. Rusk, Distributor, Atlanta, Ga.

John Ruskins
BUILT BY HAND CIGAR

WE SELL FORD CARS
A. L. BELLE ISLE — IVY 507

BARONS HAVE GOOD CLUB

BY MIKE THOMAS

Birmingham, Ala., April 9.—(Special.)—The chances look good here for a successful season in the Southern league, with Manager Carlton Molesworth well supplied with young, but good looking material.

The outfield seems to be the Barons' stronghold in both offense and defense. For the trio of gardeners are all veterans in the game. "Sump" Clarke, "Doc" Silva and Harry Harper are the outfielders who wear the Barons uniform. Both Clarke and Silva were with the Barons last season, hitting around the 300 mark, while Harper was purchased recently for the sum of $5,000. The outfield men are all good basemen also, Silva being near the lead last season in number of bases.

Barons Look Good.
The Barons have been showing class in the exhibition games, having defeated Louisville and St. Paul this week. The Chicago White Sox laid a 1 to 0 beating on the locals last Saturday, however.

The catching department of the club shows ability with two such receivers as Robertson, whom the Barons bought from the Texas circuit, while Tootter Brandon will serve as second base. Brandon caught great in last season, as well as hitting hard. Robertson hit around .300 last season.

The pitching staff looks fair, from the results of the exhibition games. Whitehill was sent up to Pittsburgh last season near the close, but the Barons have returned him for a season. Eberhard, another regular of last season's staff, is being counted on strongly, as he went good last year. Whitehill, who was purchased from the Nashville Vols, and Roy Meeker, drafted from the Virginia league, are two more pitchers that are expected to deliver. Meadows has three recruits who may show some promise for Southern league company. These men are Drake, Bates, of the Georgia league, and Henderson. Dr. Newton is another regular back on the team, but has never been able to get his arm in condition.

The infield appears to be a fast fielding combination. Neun, a young recruit, is showing a wonderful ability around the first base corner, and will probably be one of the fastest first sackers in the league. Krehmer, who came to the Barons last season from Pittsburgh, is handling the keystone well, while Burkett, a recruit from the Virginia league, is showing class on short stop. Tommy Taylor, leading hitter among Southern league third basemen last season, is being counted on along the old pep around the third corner.

Probable Line-ups.

The team that will probably take the field against the Nashville Volunteers in the opening game will be: Silva, cf.; Neun, 1b.; Clarke, lf.; Harper, 2b.; Krehmer, 3b.; Burkett, ss.; Robertson, c.; probably a veteran pitcher.

EXHIBITION GAMES

At Memphis, Tenn., April 9.—R. H. E.
Pittsburgh (N. L.)..... 7 9 1
Memphis (S. A.)..... 2 5 3
Batteries—Glasner and Mattox; Zahniser, Tuero and Shestak.

At Brooklyn, April 9.—R. H. E.
New York (A. L.)..... 9 3 2
Brooklyn (N. L.)..... 0 3 2
Batteries—Mays, Bush and Schang; Vance, Mameaux and Deberry, Miller.

At New York, April 9.—R. H. E.
Chicago (A. L.)..... 3 10 1
New York (N. L.)..... 2 6 0
Batteries—Wilkinson and Schalk; J. Barnes, Shea, Jonnard and Snyder.

At Washington, April 9.—R. H. E.
Boston (N. L.)..... 2 10 1
Washington (A. L.)..... 3 9 2
Ten innings.
Batteries—Watson, Fillingim and O'Neill; McGowdy; Brillhart, Gleason and Garrity.

At Cincinnati, April 9.—R. H. E.
Boston (A. L.)..... 3 6 0
Cincinnati (N. L.)..... 5 7 3
Batteries—Piercy, Katz and Ruhl; Donohue and Wingo.

At Baltimore, Md., April 9.—R. H. E.
Philadelphia (A. L.)..... 8 7 1
Baltimore (I. L.)..... 4 10 0
Batteries—Pommel, Harris and Fohman; Thomas; Frank, McAvoy and Styles.

At Newark, N. J., April 9.—R. H. E.
Philadelphia (N. L.)..... 7 10 0
Newark (I. L.)..... 4 4 5
Batteries—Ring, Smith and Peters; Barnes, Kneisch, Brady and Manning; O'Neill, McGowdy; Brillhart, Gleason and Garrity.

At Louisville, Ky., April 9.—R. H. E.
Louisville (A. L.)..... 11 15 2
Nashville (S. A.)..... 2 6 0
Batteries—Tincup, Cullip and Meyer; Deighan; Lucas, Gallagher and Morrow.

At St. Louis, April 9.—R. H. E.
St. Louis (A. L.)..... 6 12 1
St. Louis (N. L.)..... 3 12 3
Batteries—Van Gilder and Severid; Doak, Barnfoot, North, Petrica and Ainsmith.

At Indianapolis, April 9.—R. H. E.
Detroit (A. L.)..... 2 7 0
Indianapolis (A. L.)..... 1 4 2
Batteries—Cole and Bassier, Hill; Weaver and Krueger.

At Mobile, April 9.—R. H. E.
Mobile (S. A.)..... 9 9 0
Batteries—Sigmund, Hill and Baker; Toups, Walsh, Ching, Benge and Babington.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., April 9.—R. H. E.
St. Paul (A. A.)..... 3 7 0
Chattanooga (S. A.)..... 2 4 2 Batteries—Benton and Clark; Cunningham and Kress.

At New Orleans, R. H. E.
Shreveport (Texas)..... 8 10 0
New Orleans (Southern)..... 5 9 9
Batteries—Flaherty and Cady; Mattoon, McQuillan, Thomas and Dowie.

BARKER TO ADDRESS NEGRO BUSINESS MEN

B. S. Barker, secretary of the chamber of commerce, will speak on Monday night, at 8 o'clock sharp at the Y. M. C. A., to the Atlanta Negro Business league. The league is inviting all business men and women of the city to attend this meeting, as Mr. Barker's lecture will be of real benefit to all who hear it. These lectures are absolutely free and are for the purpose of creating greater interest in the development of business enterprises.

PILES CURED

without cutting or no pay.

Write for my FREE Book on Rectal Troubles or call without delay.

Dr. T. W. Hughes, Specialist,

185 N. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga.

Dance for Glee Club.

LaGrange, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—The members of the local Elks' club, under the direction of Jarrell R. Dunson, are perfecting plans for the reception of the University of Georgia Glee club, when it stages its performance in LaGrange next Thursday.

Tifton to Clean Up.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton starts in "clean-up" and paint-up week Monday. At a meeting at the board of trade fifteen committees were named, covering every department of the work and every section of the city, and City Manager Hargett promised every possible aid in the good work.

ATHENS ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Athens, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—The seventy-first anniversary of the Organization of the Williams Lodge No. 15, I. O. O. F., which took place April 15, 1847, will be staged in the University school room put in. At Sunday afternoon, April 16. Plans are being made for an elaborate celebration which is believed will eclipse anything of the kind ever held in Athens.

All the lodges in the Athens district have been invited to attend. The program committee is composed of Harold F. Tuck, A. A. Fambrough and A. B. Spout. The officers of the Athens lodge are R. L. J. Smith, past master, and Mayor George C. Thomas, R. G. The public is generally invited to attend the Easter anniversary exercises at the chapel.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

O'Dowd-Clayton Meet Tomorrow Night Winner Gets Crack at Pal Moore

BY MIKE THOMAS

The cognomen of the fighter who meets Little Tim O'Dowd, the little bantam, in the 10-round feature event of the American Legion card that will be run off at the fight club at the corner of Forsyth and Hunter streets tomorrow night should give some indication as to the qualities and tendencies of this boy from Pittsburgh.

Irish Jimmy Clayton. But then, for that matter, Tim has a sort of a fighting name himself, and since both these lads are fighters, it is not surprising that they should be going to be one of the best whipped young men that ever was dragged out of most any ring, because he is a real old-timer in this match in Kid Lavigne. Lavigne is a real old-timer and a good man. He has met such boys as Jimmy Wilde, Charley Ledoux and has put on exhibitions with Owen Moran, the old-time English lightweight who came to this city in the heyday of the American lightweight era when Earl Nelson, Jimmy Britt, Joe Gans, Ad Wolgast and others of their ilk were in their prime. Lavigne was unfortunate during the last year by getting into the way of one of Tom Gibbons' punches and landing in the hospital. He is getting back into shape and he will, without doubt, give Billy Dale the fight of his short apprenticeship in the ring.

Jack Wallace, who has appeared several times before the fight fans here, will meet Joe Carter. Wallace is an Ogletown student who is working his way through college and using his "dicks" to bring in the shekles which are so necessary when room rent and board bills are to be met. Joe Carter is also a well-known character and has graduated from several of the best known local institutions (not colleges), but in spite of this he is more of a boxer and boxing form than any other fighter who has claimed Atlanta for his native habitat for quite some time.

The opening six rounds will be between Eddie Reese and Young Revere. Reese is a bushy-headed fellow who is going to knock or be knocked, which is indeed an excellent resolution. Young Revere hides his ambitions under a bushy head, but he will give an account of himself.

Tickets for this next to the last of the legion cards that will be held at the Forsyth and Hunter street fight club are on sale at the usual places and the standard prices prevail. The location where the fights of this future night will be held is decided, but with hot weather approaching it is very likely that the battles this summer will be held at the ball park.

ALL COURT RUSSIA ON EVE OF PARLEY

Continued from first page.

"examination of the best methods for the execution of the principles contained in the resolution passed at Cannes by the supreme council, January 6."

Pivot of Parley.

The Italian delegation to whom the direction of the conference had been entrusted, claims that this article is the pivot on which the conference must turn. Referring especially to relations with Russia and her satellites, the committee mentioned at Cannes. This plan was stoutly resisted by Russia, which has since been joined in this opposition by Poland, Estonia and Latvia, which met with Russia at the recent Riga conference and signed a protocol pledging themselves to stand in opposition to a consortium.

This attitude of the Baltic entente against the proposed consortium was based on the belief that the great powers contemplated intruding their sovereignty through financial control and hoped to place them in the position of colonies, much, it was argued, as had been done with China.

Article 2 of the agenda speaks of "the establishment of European peace on a solid basis." This section, according to the Russian delegation, aims at "finding a means whereby controversies between nations can be solved without recourse to the barbarous use of arms."

Land Armaments.

This article naturally will bring about a discussion of land armaments, which was impossible at the Washington conference owing to French opposition. As most of the European nations are armed with modern weapons, the Russian delegation is not in a position to demand disarmament, but it is not willing to accept the Versailles treaty.

Russia asserts that she is willing to reduce her army if Japan evacuates Siberia and Rumania, evacuates Bessarabia and guarantees for the security of its boundaries are given. France contends that she cannot reduce her army because Germany is not complying with the Versailles treaty.

Article 3 of the agenda refers to "essential conditions for the re-establishment of confidence, without affecting existing treaties."

Inter-Alleed Debts.

This, according to the Cannes declaration, was to do with the inter-allied debts, which were not mentioned because it was feared such mention would prevent American participation. The clause, "Without affecting existing treaties," was insisted upon by the French in order to prevent revision of the reparations provisions of the Versailles treaty.

Article four deals with financial questions—first, currency; second, central banks; third, public finance in connection with reconstruction; fourth, exchange, and fifth, organization of public and private credit.

Article 5 of the agenda covers "economic and commercial questions, first, facilities and guarantees for export and import commerce; second, legal guarantees for the resumption of commerce; third, protection of industrial, literary and artistic property; fourth, consular regulations; fifth, admission and status of foreigners in connection with their participation in trade; sixth, technical assistance to be given in the work of reconstruction."

FULTON TO VOTE ON BONDS MAY 9

Continued from first page.

for carrying on the work of the high school, unless a new building is provided.

"It is absolutely necessary to have this bond issued," said Mr. Moore, "in order that the high school may be maintained. The board is spending all of its money on operating expenses, and if the bonds are not carried the high school will have to be abandoned."

"Nearly every other system in the state has issued bonds. There is no reason to suppose that Fulton county can get along the rest of the time without voting bonds, when other systems find it impossible to do so."

J. W. Simmons, superintendent of county schools, is carrying the call to rally to the support of the schools to every township and section of the county. Before the election he will have reached the majority of the voters with his message.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton, Ga., April 9.—(Special.)—Tifton Presbyterians are planning to remodel their church building in Tifton at an expenditure of about $5,000. An architect is working on the plans. The roof will be lowered, the interior remodeled and a new front and Sunday school room put in. At a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, at Waterloo, $2,000 was raised toward this work.

Remodel Tifton Church.

Tifton

"ATLANTA Always Ahead," is Atlanta's Official Slogan. Keep it true by always boosting your city.

THE CONSTITUTION'S WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW

THERE is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores or factories.

C. H. DUDLEY, Gen. Mgr. F. W. DEBOICE, Asst. Mgr.

PHOENIX PLANING MILL CO.

LUMBER MILLWORK

"SYMBOL OF—SASH DOORS—SATISFACTION"

SASH DOORS

Interior and Exterior Trim

321 Highland Ave. Phones Ivy 950-4441-4442

FOR—

PIPE VALVES FITTINGS TOOLS

SEE

FULTON SUPPLY CO.

Broad and Hunter Sts.
Main 3400

Says Prices Must Base On Economical Costs

"Speaking from the point of a manufacturer, it would appear to me that this is a time when every manufacturer should aim to reduce all manufacturing costs to the lowest possible extent, not necessarily to the extent of reducing wages, but more to the point of increasing efficiency and adopting every improvement possible to increase efficiency," says J. F. Whitney, a big New York manufacturer. "There is a general tendency, it seems to be well extended over the whole country and on very many lines, of cutting prices not to a point that is safe, but to a point that hurts. This comes about largely by the lack of buying and the first thought being that it is a matter of price, where really not any more is sold at the cut price, than was before, generally some part of the industry or some industry has suffered."

"All selling prices should be based on economical cost of production as it is possible to attain, plus a reasonable profit. Then honest merchandising of goods, eliminating all the speculative element, particularly in food products, would assist materially to stabilize certain industries and food product lines."

"We are strong believers in the slogan of the Rotary club, 'Work Hard, Buy What You Need,' and if we all do this, we think the conditions are steadily showing improvement will continue on toward brighter days and that 1922 will prove to be a good year in general for all."

T. J. BYON PLATT YOUNG

THE PUBLISHERS PRESS

30-32 James Street
ATLANTA, GA.

Catalogs
Booklets
Folders
Stationery

Ivy 6331-6332

"Up to a Standard, Not Down to a Price"

CABOT'S "CREOSOTE" SHINGLE STAINS OLD VIRGINIA WHITE AND TINTS

—for Exterior Use READY ROOFING STAINS
—for Composition Roofs
Sold Exclusively in Atlanta by

SCIPLE SONS

BUILDING MATERIALS

Ivy 483, 4206, 2827

Established 1872

JOSEPH H. DREWRY
Certified Public Accountant

DREWRY-WHIDDON AUDIT COMPANY

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS AND AUDITORS
INCOME TAX SPECIALISTS

219 PALMER BLDG. PHONE IVY 5631

MILLER LUMBER CO.

DEPENDABLE SERVICE

PAINT—VARNISHES—STAINS—BUILDERS' HARDWARE

103 RIDGE AVE. MAIN 3156

F. M. SACKETT, Pres. C. D. MAJOR, Treas. W. D. MOORE, Mgr.

THE JELICO COAL CO.

—Incorporated—

WILTON JELICO COAL

RESCREENED IN ATLANTA—YARDS PAVED WITH GRANITE

OFFICE, 43 PEACHTREE ST.—PHONE, IVY 1585.

ELEVATOR AND YARDS, 6 GRANT ST.

ICE CREAM Of Quality

PURE, WHOLESOME NUTRITIOUS

Ask for It At Founts.
TAKE SOME HOME FOR THE KIDDIES

JESSUP & ANTRIM
ICE CREAM CO., INC.
Get It From Your Dealer

We are as near to you as your phone

Phone Decatur - Seven-O-Five

"Complete Satisfaction"

LUMBER AND BUILDING MATERIALS

EAST SIDE LUMBER AND COAL CO.

"No Order Too Large or Too Small to Receive Our Careful Attention"

SMITH & GUEST

CONTRACTING HEATING ENGINEERS
WE KNOW HOW

390 PEACHTREE STREET IVY 4570

GOODYEAR ALL-WEATHER TREAD SOLID TIRES

The only effective non-skid solid

DOBBS TIRE COMPANY

120 W. Peachtree St. Telephone Ivy 5646

Exclusive Distributors

C. W. RUSSELL & SON

TIN and SHEET METAL WORKERS
ROOFING, GUTTERS and REPAIRS

19 Peters St. Phone Main 1430

Atlanta Sausage Co.

(Formerly Jones Market Co.)
Home of Superior Brand Wafers
Sausage a Specialty

8 S. Piedmont Ave. Ivy 974

ELEVATORS

Construction SERVICE: Repairs
Everything About An Elevator

C. K. WEEKLEY

155 S. FORSYTH :: Main 1880

ASBESTOS SHINGLE, SLATE & SHEATHING CO.

CLAYTON S. BERRY, Manager

86 Marietta Street Atlanta, Georgia

AMBLER ASBESTOS SHINGLES

Asbestos Corrugated Roofing and Siding
Ambler Asbestos Building Lumber Ambler Linasbestos Wallboard

Plumbing Supplies

Wholesale & Retail

We operate independent of any Association

PICKERT PLUMBING SUPPLY CO.

46-48 West Hunter St. Phone Main 550.

RAY LUMBER CO.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

SASH, DOORS, FRAMING, MOULDINGS, LATH AND INTERIOR FINISH

OFFICE AND YARDS: 851 N. BOULEVARD NEAR TENTH. HEM. 5875

SERVICE—QUALITY—COURTESY

CRYSTAL ICE PURE

PONCE DE LEON ICE MFG. CO.

INDEPENDENT

McCRAY REFRIGERATORS

For All Purposes

Residences Grocers
Hotels Meat Markets Restaurants Florists

Display Rooms

No. 6 N. FORSYTH ST.
Telephone Ivy 7438

We Carry Complete Line of

CERTAIN-TEED PRODUCTS

Will Deliver at List Prices

Atlanta Flour and Grain Co.

161 Madison Ave. M. 5429-5915

CAMPERS—BOY SCOUTS

We have a complete line of U. S. Army Regulation Tents, Covers, Tarpaulins, Canvas and Steel Cots, Coats, Breeches, Hats and almost everything the army used. The prices are far below the cost of manufacturing them.

STEIN & CO.

329-31 Decatur St. Ivy 8117

FLOYD BROS.

Fly Screens Cabinet Work

All Metal Weather Strips

399 Edgewood Ave. Ivy 6124

Goudy Multigraphing Co.

IVY 5596-97. 915 HURT BLDG.

Multigraphing, Mimeographing
Mailing Lists, Typing

Direct-by-Mail Advertising

Oak Kegs

CHARRED also plain and Paraffined
Kegs—1, 2, 3, 5 and 10-gal. sizes.
Write for prices. Also wooden faucets.

FRANK REYNOLDS & SON,
Atlanta.

SCALES FOR ALL PURPOSES

NEW AND SECOND-HAND
CASH OR EASY TERMS

Also Slicing Machine and Cheese Cutters.
DAYTON MONEY WEIGHT SCALE CO.,
64 W. Mitchell St. Main 1558.

"Call or Write Us."
Atlanta, Ga.

CAPITAL HIDE & JUNK CO.

HIDES, IRON AND METAL
ARMY GOODS

331-3 PETERS ST.
MAIN 797 ATLANTA, GA.

A COMPLETE OFFICE SUPPLY HOUSE

Webb & Vary Co.

49-51 Auburn Ave. Ivy 876

Awnings

for Home and Business

Standard Tent & Awning Co.
116 Marietta St. Ivy 7395

LYNCH & JOHNSON

PLUMBING & HEATING

GOOD MECHANICS
GOOD MATERIAL
BEST PRICES

Main 1175. 53 E. Hunter St.

GEORGE DOWMAN

610-11 Walton Bldg. Ivy 3357

Metal Frame Wire Glass Windows
Hollow Metal Doors and Trim
Underwriters Tin Clad Doors & Shutters Elevators Enclosures Complete Sheet Metal Work

RITTENBAUM BROS.

Manufacturers of Sanitary Wiping Cloths

472-78 Decatur St.
Ivy 6300 Atlanta, Ga.

American Exports Top Four Billion

More than 2,000,000 persons in the United States have regular employment, despite business conditions, as a result of the nation's foreign trade, government reports indicate. Approximately $4,400,000,000 worth of merchandise was exported in 1921, according to the department of commerce.

The average worker in the United States earns about $1,000 a year at present wage standards, the department of labor has ascertained. At least 50 per cent of the value of exports is represented by wages. Workmen, therefore, contributed more than $2,200,000,000 to the value of American exports last year.

All government officials, including President Harding, are urging American manufacturers to go after foreign business. More than 600 representatives of the department of commerce are making almost daily surveys of the needs of the communities in which they are stationed. They are seeking information as to what kind of American-made goods can be sold in their communities. By cable and mail the department is kept informed of the findings of its agents. The information thus collected is placed freely at the disposal of manufacturers and exporters.

All classes of American workers benefit directly or indirectly from foreign trade, including those who do not produce commodities which move abroad in large quantities. At the present volume of foreign business, the benefit averages $110 for every man and woman at work anywhere in the country. This is an increase of more than 100 per cent over the benefit from foreign trade in the pre-war period.

merce are making almost daily surveys of the needs of the communities in which they are stationed. They are seeking information as to what kind of American-made goods can be sold in their communities. By cable and mail the department is kept informed of the findings of its agents. The information thus collected is placed freely at the disposal of manufacturers and exporters.

All classes of American workers benefit directly or indirectly from foreign trade, including those who do not produce commodities which move abroad in large quantities. At the present volume of foreign business, the benefit averages $110 for every man and woman at work anywhere in the country. This is an increase of more than 100 per cent over the benefit from foreign trade in the pre-war period.

Lumber Production Cost Less Today

Lumber is being produced cheaper than ever before, Wilson Compton told delegates attending the meeting of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, of which he is secretary-manager, meeting in Chicago a few days ago.

Reporters that the lumber supply was decreasing he denounced as a falsity.

designed by profiteers to keep building prices up.

"Railway rates are too high," he said, "and it costs more to send lumber from the west coast to Chicago than to produce it. We can send it cheaper through the Panama canal to New York and backhaul it to Detroit than we can send it across the continent. We save $13.75 a thousand feet by water."

Farm Industry and Business Improve

Acting Director Davis, of the War Finance corporation, in a statement a few days ago noted "marked improvement in the condition of the agricultural industry and a better outlook for business generally" on the basis of April 1 reports from corporation agencies.

"Live stock producers and farmers generally," the statement said, "are reported much more confident because of improved market conditions. 'Bank deposits have increased in many agricultural communities and the country banks are generally in a stronger position than they have been for a long time. Best of all, confidence is returning, and with it the trend of business is toward a restoration of more normal conditions all along the line."

"Up to March 31," the statement said, "the corporation had approved loans aggregating $322,825,197, of which $214,187,701 was to banks, $85,387,816 to co-operatives and $20,250,120 for export purposes."

Japan Big Buyer of California Rice

Ninety per cent of California's 1921 rice crop is being shipped to Japan. This is the first time in history that a California food product has been exported to Japan for consumption.

Losses by California rice growers on their 1920 crops forced them to protect themselves against a similar situation this year. Rice growers had to be assured of two and a half cents a pound at the warehouse door in order to insure a profit. California rice is similar to that grown in Japan, whose rice crop this year and for some time to come will be inadequate.

REPAIR GUTTERING KEEPS GARVIN BUSY

With the splendid building spirit now abroad, and with a great number of landlords overhauling, repainting and making almost like new a great number of residences and other buildings, W. M. Garvin, well-known roofing and guttering man, is being kept on the job from morning till night.

Mr. Garvin's place of business is at 137 Edgewood avenue, where he has been for the past twelve years, and where he has built up a large list of patrons among those who need any kind of galvanized work executed.

Mr. Garvin states that just now more repair work is perhaps being done in this city than in any other time in the past. With all overhauling and painting naturally comes the work of installing new guttering, and frequently he is called in to do the same thing. He states that he is doing what he believes a large share of the guttering and repair work, and that it is keeping him and his force of workmen quite busy.

He is prepared to execute any galvanized work of this kind, and a call over phone Main 1382 will bring a man to give estimates, good service and the best of work to follow later if it is desired that he do the work.

EAST SIDE COMPANY BUSY WITH BUILDERS

With an up-to-the-minute delivery fleet of trucks to give the best of service to its patrons, and with great impetus recently given to the building campaign which now seems to have a good hold on Atlanta, the East Side Lumber and Coal company, 7th Kirkwood, finds itself quite busy these days.

This company is owned by T. W. Robinson, and he has made quite a success of his business since its establishment three years ago. His manner of giving prompt and courteous service, plus the right kind of goods, has made, and holds, for his company a large list of patrons.

In the winter season Mr. Robinson and his company are kept busy with coal deliveries, making that perhaps the larger feature of their business. As spring approaches, and the building season opens up, the company then turns its chief attention to lumber, which they are equipped to supply in any quantities and any kind, and also to a general line of building material, such as brick, lime, cement, etc.

The company is one of the well-known concerns of its kind in this section, and Mr. Robinson is very optimistic over the future for his business, particularly in view of the excellent building spirit that seems to pervade the city.

PICKERT COMPANY FILLS PLUMBERS' BILLS

In business in this city for a long number of years, and recognized as one of the staple concerns of this section, is the Pickert Plumbing company, located at 46-48 West Hunter street, wholesale and retail dealers in plumbers' supplies.

Interested in the company and its general manager is J. H. Kleier, a well-known business man, well experienced in the plumbing business. The company claims that it is operated independent of any association,

PICKERT COMPANY FILLS PLUMBERS' BILLS

standing, as it were, on its own bottom. It sells all manner of plumbing supplies both to the wholesale and retail trade and enjoys a large list of patrons, not only in this city, but throughout the whole south.

The company carries in stock, or can secure for patrons, any and all kind of plumbing supplies, and prompt service is one of the things that has made the company so strong with a large number of patrons. Those in need of any supplies of this kind would do well to call this company, Main 550.

PICKERT COMPANY FILLS PLUMBERS' BILLS

In business in this city for a long number of years, and recognized as one of the staple concerns of this section, is the Pickert Plumbing company, located at 46-48 West Hunter street, wholesale and retail dealers in plumbers' supplies.

Interested in the company and its general manager is J. H. Kleier, a well-known business man, well experienced in the plumbing business. The company claims that it is operated independent of any association,

PICKERT COMPANY FILLS PLUMBERS' BILLS

standing, as it were, on its own bottom. It sells all manner of plumbing supplies both to the wholesale and retail trade and enjoys a large list of patrons, not only in this city, but throughout the whole south.

The company carries in stock, or can secure for patrons, any and all kind of plumbing supplies, and prompt service is one of the things that has made the company so strong with a large number of patrons. Those in need of any supplies of this kind would do well to call this company, Main 550.

Dowman-Wilkins Printing Co.

PUBLICATIONS PRINTERS STATIONERY RULERS

IVY 791 107-9 LUCKIE STREET "SERVICE"

IF YOU intend to roof your home this spring, see us about ASPHALT SHINGLES or our ELABORATED Patent Print Roll Roofing.

A BIG SAVING—in Money and Worry.

ELABORATED ROOFING CO.

222 PALMER BLDG. PHONE IVY 4695

YOU COULDN'T DEAL WITH A BETTER CONCERN

BEALL-MULLER COMPANY, Inc.

MAIN 4090

"NOTHING TO DO BUT PRINT"

CORNER PRYOR AND ALABAMA STREETS

SOUTHERN BEARING COMPANY

PHONE Ivy 7932

Good Territory Open

for Distributors for the Milwaukee Crank Shaft and Connecting Rod Bearings.

Standard equipment of about 60% of Cars and Trucks used.

375 EDGEWOOD AVE. ATLANTA, GA.

JUST RECEIVED

Large lot of new and used Government steel ANVILS, from 70 to 350 pounds. New ANVILS 12c per pound; Used ANVILS 8c per pound.

R. S. Armstrong & Bro.
676 MARIETTA ST.

We Try Our Best to Sell Satisfaction

That is what every home owner should desire and get, but the cheapest bid does not always give it Quality Goods—Good Workmen—and Responsibility.

Sanitary Plumbing Co.

Heating and Plumbing Contractors

162 Edgewood Ave., Ivy 283. Try Us.

AUSTIN BROTHERS BRIDGE CO.

STRUCTURAL STEEL FOR ALL PURPOSES

REINFORCING RODS—BRIDGES—ROAD MACHINERY

OFFICES & PLANT OPPOSITE FT. McPHERSON

ATLANTA, GA. TELEPHONE WEST 2200

ENGINEERS

Consulting, Designing and Supervising

E. V. Camp and Associates

Box 421 Atlanta, Ga.

WE SPECIALIZE ON ALL KINDS OF ELECTRICAL REPAIR WORK

Such As MOTORS—TRANSFORMERS—GENERATORS—ETC.

"WE REPAIR ANYTHING ELECTRICAL"

Prompt Service on Out-of-Town Work.

ATLANTA TEXTILE & MACHINERY CO.

J. R. GRIFFITH, Mgr.
54 S. FORSYTH ST. MAIN 100

BIRD-POTTS CO., INC.

Welding Engineers

Ivy 8091

376-78 MARIETTA ST.

WE WELD ANYTHING—ANYWHERE

FULTON TRANSFER & STORAGE CO.

"WE MOVE ANYTHING—ANYWHERE"

COMMERCIAL STORAGE HOUSEHOLD GOODS

OFFICE: 211 Marietta St. Phone: Ivy 1991.

WAREHOUSE: 90 Means Street Phone: Ivy 5878.

ATLANTA, GA.

RUBBER STAMPS

we can fill your orders promptly for STENCILS, SEALS

CHECKS BADGES PLATES SIGNS

Call on us when you need anything in this line

DIXIE STATIONERY ATLANTA

76 NORTH BROAD ST.

WE CARRY IN STOCK:

Poplar White Pine Hickory Maple Gum
Birch Oak Ash

The Hardwood Lbr. Co.

36 Milton Ave. Main 3005

Harper Printing Co.

PROMPT SERVICE

168 Whitehall Main 3918

CITY TOWEL SUPPLY COMPANY

AN INDIVIDUAL SERVICE THAT SATISFIES

199 PIEDMONT AVENUE PHONE IVY 1939

LOOSE-LEAF SYSTEMS

Stock Forms for Every Line of Business. Special Price on Duplicate Monthly Statements and Commercial Printing

Expert Service

WYLEY LOOSE-LEAF CO.

53-5 Walton St. Ivy 8079.

High-Class Renovating

Gale City Mattress Co.

404 Decatur St.
Ivy 6478. Atlanta, Ga.

W. E. CHAMBERS AGENT

Highest Quality Kentucky Coal

612 Ga. Savings Bk. Bldg.
Ivy 4483—Main 4060

BOLTS - NUTS - RODS - CAST WASHERS - TIE-RODS

ATLANTA BOLT & STEEL PRODUCTS CO.

193 S. Humphries St. Main 6196

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BAGLEY & WILLET, Gen. Agents

FOURTH NATIONAL BANK BLDG. ATLANTA, GA.

Charter Perpetual Assets—$233,985,548.00 Insurance in Force—$1,090,000,000.00

STORAGE

If you are thinking of storing your household goods, we will be glad to have you call at our warehouses and see how they will be cared for if placed with us. Any time will be convenient for us, as our buildings are always clean.

WOODSIDE

Ivy 2036 239 Edgewood Ave.

DOREMUS-DANIEL & CO.

20 BROAD ST., N. Y.

Members N. Y. Stock Exchange

ATLANTA OFFICE, 9 TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA BUILDING

STOCKS AND BONDS

HERBERT H. BROWN MGR. IVY 6851

519 GRANT BLDG.

Weather Influence Felt In New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, April 9.—Weather news was the main motive power back of fluctuations in the cotton market this week and it resulted in upturns in the early sessions of the week and again on the close. In between, news was more favorable and the market sagged.

Influences were so well balanced that fluctuations were within limits of 32 to 50 points, May trading as high as 16.91 and as low as 16.51. On the close prices were 10 to 30 points higher than the close of the preceding week, the last price on May being 16.75. In the spot department the close was not unchanged with middling at 16.63, which compared with 11.90 cents as the closing price of middling a year ago.

The extreme heavy rainfall in Texas was the most prominent official feature of the week. Official reports noted rains of as much as 7.10 inches within 24 hours and numerous reports from 3 to 6 inches. Overflooded rivers and creeks and bad washed fields were widely reported and in the more southern portions of the state it was claimed that a great deal of replanting would have to be done. At the end of the week there were private reports of further heavy rains which, with what looked like 651 bales in the New Orleans stock.

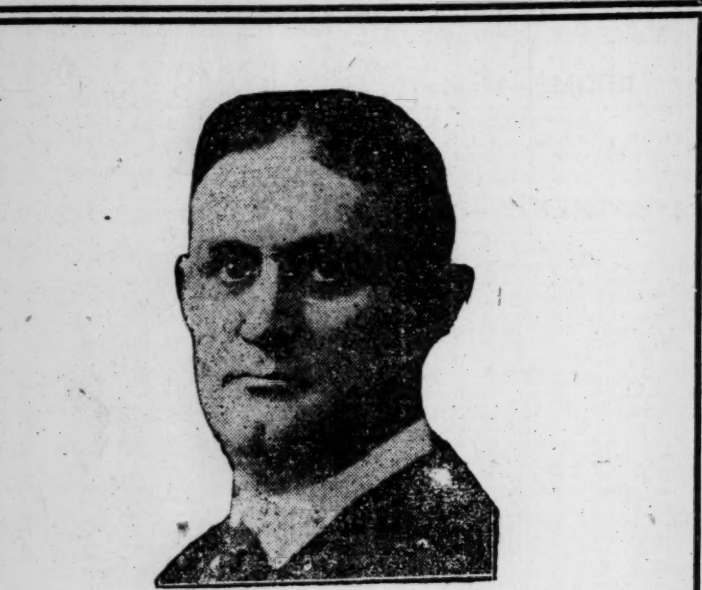

LOGAN CLARKE INSURANCE AGENCY

Fire, Automobile, Burglary, Etc.

Personal Attention to All Business

PROMPT PAY NO DELAY

1020 FOURTH NAT. BANK BLDG. TELEPHONE IVY 983

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:

I am a candidate for Tax Receiver of Fulton County, and am making the race on my record as a citizen and a public official, with no unkind word for either of my opponents.

Mr. Lawrence McCord, who is associated with me, is widely and most favorably known as a high-class business man, being senior member of McCord Bros., wholesale merchants of Atlanta.

Your influence and vote will be sincerely appreciated.

Election, Tuesday, April 18.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to call at my office.

DR. WM. L. GILBERT.

702-704 Atlanta National Bank Building.

Do Not Pay For Service Until Results Are Satisfactory

Dr. W. H. Worrell in Charge

130-A Peachtree, opposite Candler Bldg. Hours 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Sundays, 11 to 1.

Seeking a Desirable Local Distributor-Connection

Our client, a middle west corporation, with manufacturing plant in Cleveland, making an old established line of Floor Polish Mops, Dust Mops and Wall Plaques with exclusive new sales points, as well as the highest quality line of Floor, Furniture and Automobile Polishes, desires sales agents in the Atlanta and surrounding territory. The Distributor wanted is an organization (or well financed individual) that now has or is building up a sales force for covering adequately this territory. Should carry a moderate but adequate assortment of the products in stock. No "Manufacturers Agents" what is wanted is virtually an exclusive jobbing connection; and to such our client is prepared to offer an attractive contract with exclusive territorial rights.

For details, address—

THE POWERS-HOUSE CO.

Advertising and Sales Counsel

1105 Chestnut Avenue Cleveland, Ohio

Leviathan Sails To Be Converted Into Ocean Liner

Bradstreet's Weekly Bank Clearings

New York	$1,100,000,000	16.8
Chicago	$400,000,000	4.5
Philadelphia	$200,000,000	2.5
Boston	$150,000,000	1.8
San Francisco	$100,000,000	1.2
St. Louis	$80,000,000	1.0
San Antonio	$70,000,000	.9
St. Paul	$60,000,000	.8
Portland	$50,000,000	.7
Seattle	$40,000,000	.6
Denver	$30,000,000	.5
Los Angeles	$20,000,000	.4
Minneapolis	$15,000,000	.3
Cincinnati	$10,000,000	.2
St. Petersburg	$8,000,000	.1
Atlanta	$7,000,000	.1
Omaha	$6,000,000	.1
Buffalo	$5,000,000	.1
Portland, Ore.	$4,000,000	.1
San Diego	$3,000,000	.1
San Jose	$2,000,000	.1
San Francisco	$1,000,000	.1
San Antonio	$800,000	.1
San Diego	$700,000	.1
San Jose	$600,000	.1
San Francisco	$500,000	.1
San Antonio	$400,000	.1
San Diego	$300,000	.1
San Jose	$200,000	.1
San Francisco	$100,000	.1
San Antonio	$80,000	.1
San Diego	$70,000	.1
San Jose	$60,000	.1
San Francisco	$50,000	.1
San Antonio	$40,000	.1
San Diego	$30,000	.1
San Jose	$20,000	.1
San Francisco	$10,000	.1
San Antonio	$8,000	.1
San Diego	$7,000	.1
San Jose	$6,000	.1
San Francisco	$5,000	.1
San Antonio	$4,000	.1
San Diego	$3,000	.1
San Jose	$2,000	.1
San Francisco	$1,000	.1
San Antonio	$800	.1
San Diego	$700	.1
San Jose	$600	.1
San Francisco	$500	.1
San Antonio	$400	.1
San Diego	$300	.1
San Jose	$200	.1
San Francisco	$100	.1
San Antonio	$80	.1
San Diego	$70	.1
San Jose	$60	.1
San Francisco	$50	.1
San Antonio	$40	.1
San Diego	$30	.1
San Jose	$20	.1
San Francisco	$10	.1
San Antonio	$8	.1
San Diego	$7	.1
San Jose	$6	.1
San Francisco	$5	.1
San Antonio	$4	.1
San Diego	$3	.1
San Jose	$2	.1
San Francisco	$1	.1
San Antonio	$.80	.1
San Diego	$.70	.1
San Jose	$.60	.1
San Francisco	$.50	.1
San Antonio	$.40	.1
San Diego	$.30	.1
San Jose	$.20	.1
San Francisco	$.10	.1
San Antonio	$.08	.1
San Diego	$.07	.1
San Jose	$.06	.1
San Francisco	$.05	.1
San Antonio	$.04	.1
San Diego	$.03	.1
San Jose	$.02	.1
San Francisco	$.01	.1
San Antonio	$.008	.1
San Diego	$.007	.1
San Jose	$.006	.1
San Francisco	$.005	.1
San Antonio	$.004	.1
San Diego	$.003	.1
San Jose	$.002	.1
San Francisco	$.001	.1

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ending April 6, reported by telegraph to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $7,101,426,000, against $6,156,364,000 last week and $6,458,722,000 in this week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $235,475,000, as against $223,172,000 last week and $227,447,000 in this week last year.

Following are the returns for last week with percentages of change shown as compared with same week last year:

New York	$1,100,000,000	16.8
Chicago	$400,000,000	4.5
Philadelphia	$200,000,000	2.5
Boston	$150,000,000	1.8
San Francisco	$100,000,000	1.2
St. Louis	$80,000,000	1.0
San Antonio	$70,000,000	.9
St. Paul	$60,000,000	.8
Portland	$50,000,000	.7
Seattle	$40,000,000	.6
Denver	$30,000,000	.5
Los Angeles	$20,000,000	.4
Minneapolis	$15,000,000	.3
Cincinnati	$10,000,000	.2
St. Petersburg	$8,000,000	.1
Atlanta	$7,000,000	.1
Omaha	$6,000,000	.1
Buffalo	$5,000,000	.1
Portland, Ore.	$4,000,000	.1
San Diego	$3,000,000	.1
San Jose	$2,000,000	.1
San Francisco	$1,000,000	.1
San Antonio	$800,000	.1
San Diego	$700,000	.1
San Jose	$600,000	.1
San Francisco	$500,000	.1
San Antonio	$400,000	.1
San Diego	$300,000	.1
San Jose	$200,000	.1
San Francisco	$100,000	.1
San Antonio	$80,000	.1
San Diego	$70,000	.1
San Jose	$60,000	.1
San Francisco	$50,000	.1
San Antonio	$40,000	.1
San Diego	$30,000	.1
San Jose	$20,000	.1
San Francisco	$10,000	.1
San Antonio	$8,000	.1
San Diego	$7,000	.1
San Jose	$6,000	.1
San Francisco	$5,000	.1
San Antonio	$4,000	.1
San Diego	$3,000	.1
San Jose	$2,000	.1
San Francisco	$1,000	.1
San Antonio	$800	.1
San Diego	$700	.1
San Jose	$600	.1
San Francisco	$500	.1
San Antonio	$400	.1
San Diego	$300	.1
San Jose	$200	.1
San Francisco	$100	.1
San Antonio	$80	.1
San Diego	$70	.1
San Jose	$60	.1
San Francisco	$50	.1
San Antonio	$40	.1
San Diego	$30	.1
San Jose	$20	.1
San Francisco	$10	.1
San Antonio	$8	.1
San Diego	$7	.1
San Jose	$6	.1
San Francisco	$5	.1
San Antonio	$4	.1
San Diego	$3	.1
San Jose	$2	.1
San Francisco	$1	.1
San Antonio	$.80	.1
San Diego	$.70	.1
San Jose	$.60	.1
San Francisco	$.50	.1
San Antonio	$.40	.1
San Diego	$.30	.1
San Jose	$.20	.1
San Francisco	$.10	.1
San Antonio	$.08	.1
San Diego	$.07	.1
San Jose	$.06	.1
San Francisco	$.05	.1
San Antonio	$.04	.1
San Diego	$.03	.1
San Jose	$.02	.1
San Francisco	$.01	.1
San Antonio	$.008	.1
San Diego	$.007	.1
San Jose	$.006	.1
San Francisco	$.005	.1
San Antonio	$.004	.1
San Diego	$.003	.1
San Jose	$.002	.1
San Francisco	$.001	.1

Bank Transactions.

Debits to individual accounts at clearing house banks are summarized by Federal Reserve districts as follows:

Districts:	Mar. 20.	Mar. 20.
New York	$4,487,924	$3,238,081
Philadelphia	$1,093,007	$836,493
Cleveland	$714,108	$426,507
Richmond	$374,920	$254,735
ATLANTA	$242,540	$186,474
Chicago	$1,014,173	$708,646
St. Louis	$1,067,854	$1,017,077
Minneapolis	$218,132	$158,736
Kansas City	$126,925	$124,963
San Francisco	$392,702	$255,510
Total	$16,000,851	$10,567,710

"TIZ" PUTS JOY IN SORE, ACHING FEET

"TIZ" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, calluses, blisters and bunions. "TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "TIZ" is wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a box of "TIZ" now from any drugstore or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smarter shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy.—(Adv.)

Power Plant Building.

Bids April 24, 1922.

Sealed proposals for furnishing material and constructing a power plant building for the City of Thomville, Ga., will be received by the City Engineer, at the City Clerk's office until 12:00 o'clock noon, Eastern Time, April 24th, 1922.

The work will consist of a building constructed of brick, with concrete foundations, steel roof, steel trusses, etc.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $500.00. A bond of 50% of contract price will be required.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the City Engineer, at the City of Thomville, Ga., or at the office of the Architect in Montgomery, Ala., or at the Builders' Exchange, Atlanta, Ga. Plans and specifications may be obtained by depositing $25.00 with the Architect, who is authorized to return of plans in good condition, $20.00 will be refunded.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

(Signed) H. J. McINTYRE, Mayor.

ARCHITECT: T. E. SMITH, JR., Clerk.

C. F. GALLIHER, 1st Nat. Bank Bldg., Montgomery, Ala.

CHEVROLET IS A GOOD BUY

Woodward Motor Co. Ivy 7838

BRICKLAYERS AND PLASTERERS UNION ONLY

$1.10 Per Hour

No Labor Trouble

Plenty of Work

All Summer and Fall

WRITE ASSOCIATED BUILDERS AND BUILDING CONSTRUCTION EMPLOYERS ASSOCIATION

133 West Washington St. CHICAGO

FOR SALE

Twenty-three West North Ave.

Five hundred dollars per front foot.

4:30 A. M. April 10, 1922, $500. Too late.

9:00 A. M. $600 per front foot.

10:00 A. M. $750 per front foot.

11:00 A. M. $1,000 per front foot.

11:30 A. M. Not for sale.

Mail your bid to S. T. BRADBURY, TERMS CASH, 45 West Harris St.

Seeking a Desirable Local Distributor-Connection

Our client, a middle west corporation, with manufacturing plant in Cleveland, making an old established line of Floor Polish Mops, Dust Mops and Wall Plaques with exclusive new sales points, as well as the highest quality line of Floor, Furniture and Automobile Polishes, desires sales agents in the Atlanta and surrounding territory. The Distributor wanted is an organization (or well financed individual) that now has or is building up a sales force for covering adequately this territory. Should carry a moderate but adequate assortment of the products in stock. No "Manufacturers Agents" what is wanted is virtually an exclusive jobbing connection; and to such our client is prepared to offer an attractive contract with exclusive territorial rights.

For details, address—

THE POWERS-HOUSE CO.

Advertising and Sales Counsel

1105 Chestnut Avenue Cleveland, Ohio

Leviathan Sails To Be Converted Into Ocean Liner

Giant Steamship Goes to Newport News for Transformation Into Floating Palace.

New York, April 9.—Leviathan, once the pride of the German merchant marine, later a transport that carried thousands of doughboys to and from European battlefields, tonight was glowing the Atlantic bound for Newport News, Va., to be converted into a palatial American transatlantic liner.

Fog interfered with the sailing schedule. Within two hours after the giant vessel had left her pier at Hoboken, where she had been idle for more than two years, her skipper, Captain W. J. Bernard, was forced to cast anchor when about five miles off Ambrose Channel. It was nearly noon before the fog lifted sufficiently to allow her to proceed southward. Her departure was without incident or ceremony. On account of the early hour comparatively few persons saw her great gray hull gliding majestically through the haze down the Hudson.

A few passing craft opened their whistles in farewell salutes. The Leviathan's engines behaved perfectly. She carried a crew of 670. Captain James G. Pease, of the Virginia company, was aboard. On her trip down the bay she was in charge of Pilot William S. McLoughlin, master of the tugboat "Hudson" and out of the harbor during the war days.

Off quarantine the Leviathan passed the Ryndam, of the Holland American line, inbound from Rotterdam. The Ryndam's passengers lined the rails and cheered, the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner" and her colors were dipped. The Leviathan dipped her flag in acknowledgment, and a few moments later was swallowed up in the mist.

It will take a small army of workmen in the Virginia shipyards more than two years to put the Leviathan into condition again.

FLAG RAISED OVER "RESOLUTE"

Hamburg, April 9.—"The Associated Press" (The Stars and Stripes) were hoisted today over the steamship "Resolute," of the United American line, which on Tuesday will inaugurate a New York-Hamburg service.

The flag was raised in the presence of the Ryndam, of the Holland American line, inbound from Rotterdam. The Ryndam's passengers lined the rails and cheered, the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner" and her colors were dipped. The Leviathan dipped her flag in acknowledgment, and a few moments later was swallowed up in the mist.

It will take a small army of workmen in the Virginia shipyards more than two years to put the Leviathan into condition again.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO COLONEL BECK

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 9.—Post field army aviation officers paid a last tribute of love and respect to their former commandant late this afternoon when from four airplanes which in the sky they cast hundreds of roses to the wind, showering with the flowers the eastbound train taking the body of Colonel Beck to Arlington National cemetery for burial.

"Colonel" Beck, as he was known to his officers and men, was killed in the early last Tuesday morning in the fashionable home of Jean P. Day, wealthy oil man and attorney, and yesterday a radio message was received here that the Fairhaven could have drifted so far north.

STEAMSHIP WRECK REPORTED BY RADIO

San Diego, Cal., April 9.—The wreck of a large steamship was sighted Friday off the Lower California coast, about 300 miles from San Diego, by the freighter Neponset, according to a radio message sent to the eleventh naval district headquarters.

Shipping men here are at a loss to account for such a large derelict that was reported. The steamer Fairhaven was wrecked off the Mexican coast several weeks ago and at various times since the hulk has been reported afloat, but it was not believed here that the Fairhaven could have drifted so far north.

Deputy Shoots Boy.

Aniston, Ala., April 9.—(Special.) Eugene Evans, 15, was shot and probably fatally wounded near Cherokee Sunday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Neat Lindsey, who was engaged in search for liquor at the time of the shooting. Evans, brought to the city and reports from St. Luke's hospital were that the bullet entered the right side and came out near the heart.

OFFICE SPACE

We offer at reasonable rates space in the new fireproof building now under construction at corner of North Forsyth and Poplar streets.

The building is of the very best construction, every room is an outside room with large windows giving ample natural light. Two excellent elevators afford easy access. Offices equipped with electrical outlets for dictaphones, fans, lights and phone connections. Heat, lights, hot water and janitor service furnished.

Each floor has 3,700 square feet rentable area. Will subdivide space to suit convenience of tenants if prompt reservations are made.

Building will be completed by September 1, 1922.

Haas & Howell

732 CANDLER BUILDING IVY 3111

FIREMAN LOSES LIFE IN ORLEANS PLAZE

New Orleans, April 9.—Conrad Schwartz, a fireman, was the only person who lost his life in a fire which late last night completely destroyed an annex of the Elks home in Orleans place, and injured twenty others when the third floor of the burning building caved in on them. The main building of the home, claimed to be the handsomest Elks lodge in the United States, was considerably damaged by water. The total loss was estimated tonight at $250,000.

The injured, all of whom hospital physicians say will recover, included seventeen firemen, Joseph Finch, the only member of the Elks injured; a motorcycle policeman, and a negro porter at the home. The latter three were only slightly hurt and left the hospitals after injuries had been dressed. Nine of the firemen were discharged from the institution today and the other eight were reported as doing well.

Sparks from an exhaust fan are believed to have started the blaze, which was discovered on the third floor of the annex when both buildings were filled with men and women. The firemen and a number of salt water swimming pool men fighting the fire when the third floor above them caved in. Schwartz was killed outright when a heavy beam struck him on the head. George Barlow, another fireman, was pinned for three hours beneath the wreckage, where the body of Schwartz was lying. Although the most seriously injured, he did not lose consciousness and helped to direct the work of the rescuers. Most of those who were in the gymnasium when the collapse came were injured.

Firemen and policemen searched the ruins of the burned building until after daylight when they reported that none of those listed as missing and believed to have been buried in the debris were found.

The Elks home had cost $750,000. Plans were begun today to rebuild the annex, which contained a gymnasium, social hall, Turkish baths, salt water swimming pool, men's grill room, billiard room, lockers and kitchen. Repairs on the main building, which suffered only by water, will be begun at once, it was stated.

FINAL TRIBUTES PAID ON SUNDAY TO A. D. ADAIR

Funeral services for A. D. Adair, widely known Atlanta and prominent business man of the city, who died Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his residence, 509 Peachtree street, were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist church. The Rev. Henry Alford Porter officiating. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

Deacons of the church acted as an honorary escort. The pallbearers were C. B. Adair, E. D. Barrett, George W. McCarthy, Jr., Rucker McCarthy, J. D. McCarthy, Jr., and Edwin McCarthy.

Sunday Mrs. Adair and two sisters, Mrs. A. J. Moore and Mrs. Sara A. Campbell; three daughters, Mrs. Laura Field, of Atlanta; Mrs. Laura Bonn, of Atlanta; Mrs. Calvin McClure, of Knoxville; and his only son, A. D. Adair, Jr.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Mary Richards.

Mrs. Mary J. Richards died at 9 o'clock Sunday night in Detroit, Mich. She is a daughter of the late Mrs. Maud B. Halp, of Atlanta, and by the following children and grandchildren: Mrs. Rosa Graham, R. L. Richards, Mrs. Eloise Walker, Percy Richards, E. B. Graham, Miss Mary, Sarah and Vivian Richards and Lovelace, Spott